MAJOR NEW TITLES THIS MONTH

Aust, Anthony, Handbook of International Law 2nd ed, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £80.00, ISBN: 9780521117050, Paperback, £31.99, ISBN: 978052113349

To the new student of international law, the subject can appear extremely complex: a system of laws created by states, international courts and tribunals operating at the national and global level. A clear guide to the subject is essential to ensure understanding. This handbook provides exactly that: written by an expert who both teaches and practises in the field, it focuses on what the law is; how it is created; and how it is applied to solve day-to-day problems. It offers a uniquely practical approach to

Baden-Powell, Ed; Bleakley, Alasdair; Eneberi, Jeffrey, Intellectual Property and Media Law Companion 4th ed, Bloomsbury Professional, Paperback, £30.00, ISBN: 978184766042

This new edition applies the Companion approach to intellectual property and media law by using graphics, flow charts, bullet points and summaries to present complex subjects in a format that is easy to read and recall. It is ideal for students studying on the Legal Practice Course and also for practitioners who need to keep up-to-date with these wide ranging and fast moving areas. It has been substantially revised and updated to cover all recent developments

Barnett, Daniel; Palka, Kate; Hay, Benjamin, Costs in Employment Tribunals, Jordan Publishing

Ltd, Hardback, £85.00, ISBN: 978184661208
Costs in Employment Tribunals meets the needs of practitioners, analysing what tribunals are doing, and more importantly, why they are doing so. Uniquely, it draws on decisions in approximately 100 unreported tribunal cases where costs were awarded or refused, offering the reader clarity on how costs decisions are made in the cases that make up the bread and butter of their practice.

Bermingham, Vera; Brennan, Carol, Tort Law Directions 2nd ed., Oxford University Press, Paperback, £25.00, ISBN: 978019957435
The book provides a thorough introduction to the key principles of tort law, and illustrates the points of law through discussions of important cases. Two introductory chapters introduce the basic concept of what tort law is, and explain the basic workings of the tort system, which helps to contextualise the discussions of the substantive law that follow.

Besson, Samantha; Tasioulas, John, The Philosophy of International Law, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £25.00, ISBN: 978019920857
International law has recently emerged as the subject-matter of an exciting new field of philosophical investigation.

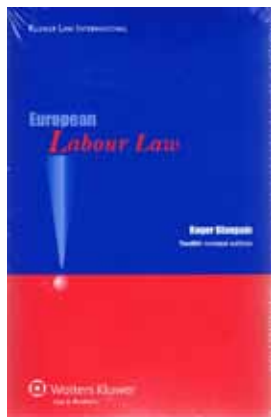

The Philosophy of International Law contains 29 cutting-edge essays by leading philosophers and international lawyers, all published here in English for the first time, that address the central philosophical questions about international law.

Black, Vaughan, Foreign Currency Claims in the Conflict of Laws, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 978184113892
This book takes a comparative look at how common law courts have addressed damages claims when foreign currencies are involved, and at statutory responses to that issue. It describes the practices of UK, Commonwealth and American courts in this field and draws both on principles of private international law and of damages assessment to analyse current practice.

Blanpain, Roger, European Labour Law 12th ed, Kluwer Law International, Paperback, £60.00, ISBN: 978904113255

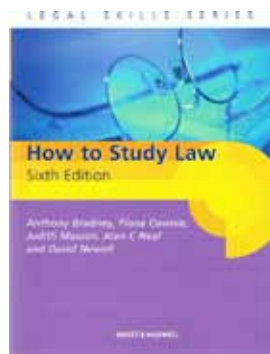

This Twelfth Edition remains the preeminent practice guide in its field, covering the full spectrum - legislation, collective agreements, and more than 400 cases - of both individual and collective labour law and practice from the fundamental freedoms to the significance of the Reform Treaty of Lisbon.

Bodiquel, Luc; Cardwell, Michael, Regulation of Genetically Modified Organisms: Comparative Approaches, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £60.00, ISBN: 978019954248

The regulation of genetically modified organisms (GMOs) continues to generate controversy. On the one hand, they are actively promoted by the biotechnology industry as vital to ensuring food security. Yet, on the other hand, consumer resistance persists, not least in the European Union, and such lack of confidence extends not just to GM food itself but also to the regulatory regime, where legal issues are inextricably linked with economics and politics. This edited collection provides a novel contribution to the ongoing debate, recognising that the legislative environment is complicated by forces as varied as national public opinion and world trade commitments.

Bradney, Anthony; Cowrie, Fiona; Masson, Judith; Neal, Alan; Newell, David, How to Study Law 6th ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Paperback, £19.95, ISBN: 978041404180

With useful worked examples, case studies and exercises and helpful flowcharts and diagrams, the sixth edition of this popular text takes a practical approach to demonstrate how to find, read and analyse a variety of legal materials - cases, statutes, articles and books - online and in print. Expanded sections on writing assignments, revision and exam skills and a new section on presentation and oral skills ensures that the vital foundations for successful study are laid.

Bray, Judith, Unlocking Land Law 3rd ed, Hodder Education, Paperback, £24.99, ISBN: 978144410916

Land law is a core element of all law degrees in England and Wales. Unlocking Land Law will ensure that you grasp the main concepts with ease providing you with an indispensable foundation to the subject. This third edition is fully up-to-date with the latest changes in the law and now includes discussion of home information packs the move towards e-conveyancing developments in proprietary estoppel and more on fetters and clogs all the major new cases.

Broder, Douglas, U.S. Antitrust Law and Enforcement: A Practice Introduction, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £110.00, ISBN: 978019538899

This book aims to deliver a one-stop introduction to the entire field, allowing law firm and in-house practitioners who do not specialize in antitrust, foreign attorneys, and newlyminted lawyers starting a career in antitrust practice to quickly gain an understanding of the wide variety of issues and policies affected by U.S. antitrust laws.

Brodie, Peter, Illustrated Dictionary of Cargo Handling 3rd ed, Informa Publishing, Hardback, £115.00, ISBN: 978184311882

Illustrated Dictionary of Cargo Handling gives readers a visual idea of all elements of maritime transport which relate to the handling and movement of cargo. This is particularly for the benefit of shore-based personnel who often do not get the opportunity to see at first-hand how the cargoes they are working on are handled and moved. There are about 800 terms and definitions, including over 200 new or expanded terms since the 2nd edition, all listed in alphabetical order. There are over 150 illustrations, nearly double the previous edition.

Brüggemeier, Gert; Colombi Ciacchi, Aurelia; O'Callaghan, Patrick, Personality Rights in European Tort Law, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £85.00, ISBN: 978052119491

This volume provides a comprehensive analysis of civil liability for invasion of personality interests in Europe. It is the final product of the collaboration of twenty-seven scholars and includes case studies of fourteen European jurisdictions, as well as an introductory chapter written from a US perspective. The case studies focus in particular on the legal protection of honour and reputation, privacy, self-determination and image. This volume aims to detect hidden similarities (the 'common core') in the actual legal treatment accorded by different European countries to personal interests which in some of these countries qualify as 'personality rights', and also to detect hidden disparities in the 'law in action' of countries whose 'law in the books' seem to protect one and the same personality interest in the same way.

Cannon, Mark; McGurk, Brendan, Professional Indemnity Insurance, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £145.00, ISBN: 978019957714

This new work provides an authoritative and practical guide to the law of professional indemnity insurance (PII). Although governed by the general principles of insurance law, PII gives rise to specific issues which merit special treatment. Professional Indemnity Insurance provides a clear, succinct account of the general principles of the relevant law, and focuses on professional indemnity related issues.

Carbonneau, Thomas; Sinopole, Angelica, Building the Civilization of Arbitration, Wildy, Simmonds and Hill Publishing, Hardback, £65.00, ISBN: 978085490068

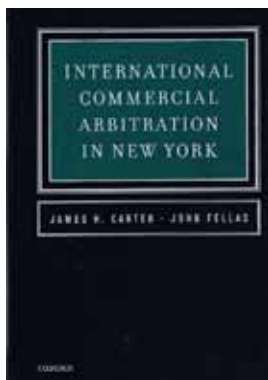

This book brings together

a group of distinguished academics and practitioners and codifies their discussion of cutting-edge topics in the contemporary law of arbitration. A number of the contributors are members of the American Law Institute's drafting committee on the Restatement of the Law of International Arbitration, a document likely to have a significant impact on the development and evolution of law in the area. Originally published as a symposium issue of the Penn State Law Review, the volume is intended to provide meaningful insights and useful guidance to students and practitioners of the process alike.

The perspective adopted in the considerations is both national and international.

Carter, James H; Fellas, James, International Commercial Arbitration in New York, Oxford University Press USA, Hardback, £115.00, ISBN: 978019537562

New York is a leading venue for international commercial arbitration, home to the headquarters for the International Centre for Dispute Resolution, the international branch of the American Arbitration Association, and many leaders in the international arbitration field. New York also serves as the locus of several prominent arbitration firms' central offices. International Commercial Arbitration in New York focuses on the distinctive aspects of international arbitration in New York. Serving as an essential strategic guide, this book allows practitioners to represent clients more effectively in cases where New York is implicated as either the place of arbitration or evidence or assets are located in New York.

Catchpole, James, LPC Accounts Online: Interactive e-learning for Practice, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £39.99, ISBN: 978019954098
Offering a predominantly online learning experience and based on the idea that LPC accounts is most effectively learnt through actively building ledgers

LPC Accounts Online is an exciting new resource which offers over 100 fully interactive online exercises specifically designed to guide students through the intricacies of building both solicitors and business accounts. A short text accompanying the resource equips students with an introduction to key accounting procedures. Extensively reviewed by both the Law Society and LPC tutors throughout its development this resource is ideal for any LPC lecturer who wants to provide their students with a pragmatic, innovative and engaging way of studying LPC Accounts.

Cherry, Andrew, A Valuer's Guide to the RICS Red Book 2010, RICS Books, Paperback, £28.50, ISBN: 978184219589

The Red Book (known officially as the RICS Valuation Standards) is the leading set of practice guidelines available to the international valuation community. Now in its 8th edition for 2010. Due to constant updating, it can be a real challenge to stay abreast of the changes, understand the implications, and apply the rules of the Red Book especially for new entrants, students and APC candidates. A perfect companion for all valuation professionals, this practical guide will help you to understand your duties under the Red Book and to avoid negligence claims.

Coote, Brian; Bigwood, Rick, Contract as Assumption: Essays on a Theme, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £40.00, ISBN: 978184946029

It has many times been said that contracts involve assumptions of obligation or liability, but what that means, and what it is that is assumed, have not often been discussed. It is to further such discussion that some of the author's previously published writings around this subject have been brought together in this book.

Cullen, Anthony, Concept of Non-International Armed Conflict in International Humanitarian Law, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 978052176048

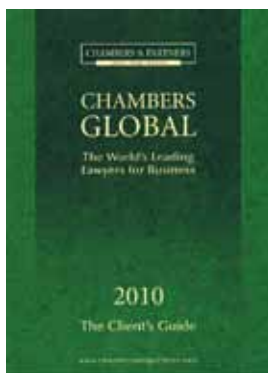

Anthony Cullen advances an argument for a particular approach to the interpretation of non-international armed conflict in international humanitarian law. The first part examines the origins of the ‘armed conflict’ concept and its development as the lower threshold for the application of international humanitarian law. Here the meaning of the term is traced from its use in the Hague Regulations of 1899 until the present day. The second part focuses on a number of contemporary developments which have affected the scope of non-international armed conflict. The case law of the International Criminal Tribunals for the former Yugoslavia has been especially influential and the definition of non-international armed conflict provided by this institution is examined in detail. It is argued that this concept represents the most authoritative definition of the threshold and that, despite differences in interpretation, there exist reasons to interpret an identical threshold of application in the Rome Statute.

Culpan, Jessica; Phillips, Richard, Chambers Global: The World's Leading Lawyers for Business: 2010 The Client's Guide, Chambers & Partners, Hardback, £210.00, ISBN: 978085514370 estate, litigation, banking, project finance, competition, tax and private equity. It also covers global industries such as energy, communications and shipping.

Culver, Keith; Giudice, Michael, Legality's Borders: An Essay in General Jurisprudence, Oxford University Press USA, Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 978019537075

Legality's Borders: An Essay in General Jurisprudence explains the rudiments of an inter-institutional theory of law, a theory which finds legality in the interaction between legal institutions, whose legality we characterise in terms of the kinds of norms they use rather than their content or system-membership. Prominent forms of legality such as the law-state and international law are then explained as particular forms of complex agglomeration of legal institutions, varying in form and complexity rather than sheer legality.

D'Costa, Roland; Wingarten, Jonathan; Synak, Terry, Tristram and Coote's Probate Practice 30th ed: 3rd supplement, LexisNexis Butterworths, Paperback, £80.00, ISBN: 978140575009

McBride, Alex, Defending the Guilty: Truth and Lies in the Criminal Courtroom, Penguin Books,

Paperback, £12.99, ISBN: 978067091830

Every day, like every criminal barrister in this country, Alex McBride stands up in court and, with nothing but quick-thinking, sharp-talking and his hard-won legal expertise, attempts to save people from criminal conviction, prison, even a lifetime behind bars. Sometimes he's had only a few hours to prepare his case. Sometimes his client is obviously guilty. In this hilarious, heart-stopping memoir, he takes us behind the scenes of Britain's criminal justice system - in barristers' chambers, in the courtroom, in the cells and on the streets - introducing us to its outlandish personalities, arcane eccentricities and its many moving stories of triumph and defeat. Whether he's defending hapless teenagers at Harlow Youth Court or prosecuting gold bullion robbers at the Bailey, his hair-raising tales reveal all the secrets of courtroom success and what it takes to survive in this chaotic world of fluked escapes and crushed hopes.

the right of peaceful protest, the book provides the first extensive analysis of the Strasbourg jurisprudence under Arts 10 and 11, offering a critical look at cases such as Öllinger, Vajnai, Bukta, Oya Ataman, Patyi and Ziliberg, as well as the older cases that form its bedrock. The principles drawn from this case-law are then synthesised into the remainder of the book to see how the right of protest enshrined in the HRA now operates.

Meyersfeld, Bonita, Domestic Violence and International Law, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £45.00, ISBN: 978184113911
This book provides a comprehensive legal analysis for why a state should be accountable in international law for allowing women to suffer extreme forms of domestic violence and how this can help individual victims. The author pushes the boundaries of the doctrine of states' 'Responsibility to Protect', a developing area of international law, which holds states responsible for the failure to protect vulnerable groups from political violence, such as ethnic cleansing, mass rape, sexual slavery or torture. Where the violence is equivalent, this obligation ought to extend to victims of private violence.

Tomuschat, Christian; Lagrange, Evelyne; Oeter,

Stefan, The Right to Life, Brill Academic Publishers, Hardback, £125.00, ISBN: 978900418391

The right to life stands at the heart of human rights protection. Individuals cannot enjoy any of the rights guaranteed to them unless their physical existence is ensured. All human rights instruments list the right to life as the first one of their safeguards. Nonetheless, in many situations human life finds itself under structural threat. Although obligated by law to protect the right to life, State authorities time and again engage in deliberate acts of killing. Fortunately, international review bodies have devised many imaginative counter-strategies. Another one of those structural threats is global warming. Obviously, armed conflict puts human life inevitably at risk; the limits of the 'license to kill' given by the laws of war must be scrupulously observed.

The Annual NBA Business Law Conference and the Commonwealth Regional Law Conference
Abuja, Nigeria. 5th of April – 11th April 2010

This month Steven Ross and John Sinkins of Wildy's attended back to back conferences in Abuja to meet our customers from Nigeria and other parts of the world. We were also ably assisted by Jubriel Hanid of Bloomsbury Professional (Tottel) as many of their titles were on display at our stand.

The NBA Conference, held immediately after the Easter weekend, was held at the Sheraton Hotel this year and is traditionally a promotional one for Wildy's so we were particularly delighted by the high attendance of delegates and also buoyant sales and interest at our stand. The only downside being that the air conditioning was barely working and we were obliged to abandon our jackets and ties in a vain attempt to stay cool. Outside temperatures were reaching 38c most days with a humidity level making it feel closer to 40c. The extremely successful Conference concluded on Thursday 8th of April and we packed up our stand and adjourned to the Transcorp Hilton for the Commonwealth Regional Conference.

The Commonwealth Conference was held at the Congress Hall adjacent to the Hilton which meant we no longer had to commute each day as we were fortunate enough to be staying at the Hilton. Once again delegate numbers were high, no doubt swollen by delegates from the NBA Conference and business was brisk. In addition to selling many relevant practitioners titles on subjects such as Oil and Gas, Arbitration, Banking, Capital Markets etc., we were particularly pleased to see some of our more recent Wildy, Simmonds and Hill titles selling extremely well. 'Medical Law Precedents' and 'Corporate Insolvency' aroused great interest and of course some of our general legal titles such as 'Weird Cases' and 'Snail and the Ginger Beer' proved to be extremely popular. For more information about our rapidly expanding publishing list, please go to <http://www.wildy.com/wildy-simmonds-hill>

We are now looking forward to the National NBA Conference in August which this year will be held in the city of Kaduna. With more than 10,000 delegates attending it will be a busy one!

Finally I would like to extend our thanks to Odade Publishing of Nigeria. Their staff were always enthusiastic and friendly towards us. Without their help providing drivers and transporting and storing our material, not to mention helping us with any local issues, none of the above would have been possible.

Epilogue

*The eruption disruption - Lost in Africa or,
I'm a Company Director, get me out of here!*

As the Conference drew to an end, my colleague Steven Ross prepared to return home the following day whilst I flew down to Lagos planning to fly back to the UK on the following Friday. At some point during that week I received a text from Steve saying he hoped I was not delayed by the volcanic eruption? Blissfully innocent to what was going on in Iceland, I replied that I was sitting on the roof of a building watching the lava flow beneath my feet – little did I know the actual situation!

I had checked into the Sheraton Hotel in Lagos which was close by to the airport expecting to fly back to England the following morning, then I switched on the television and the truth of the situation suddenly dawned on me, there was no way I was going anywhere for some time. I was effectively trapped in the hotel as going outside the compound on my own was basically unsafe. I sat it out for the next few days, whilst racking up huge accommodation bills. Everything was so expensive there. On one occasion I went down to the bar and ordered a club sandwich and three small whiskies over a period of two hours, the bar bill came to £32! I was rapidly running out of cash, though fortunately the hotel did except credit cards.

I kept in touch with London by text and email, but was becoming slowly stir crazy and worried about the increasing costs of my internment. On the Tuesday I telephoned London to say I was becoming desperate and somehow, someway needed to get out. The solution, however bizarre it might sound was to fly to New York for a few days and sit it out there. It was actually cheaper than to stay at the Sheraton with their sky rocket prices! Having received my e ticket and being assured by the airline I could pay for this by credit card, I checked out of the hotel and headed to the airport. When I arrived at the airline desk I was informed that they would only accept a cash payment and clearly the $100 I had left was not going to be good enough! Catching a taxi at dusk outside the airport is quite a scary experience and not something to be recommended, but I had little choice. Two hours after checking out of the hotel, I was back in reception – they seemed delighted to see me!

Back in my cell (hotel room) I received a call from Steve Ross who informed me that the skies had dramatically been reopened and he provisionally had got me a seat on a BA flight back to England. The following morning I received a cash transfer via Western Union and paid for my flight via a local agent. This after receiving an escort from the head of hotel security who was concerned about my walking to the bank on my own and insisted on coming with me.

So I now had my ticket back home and some dollars in my pocket, things were finally looking up. When I arrived at Lagos Airport the place was like a zoo with huge Disney-like queues of mainly Nigerian people trying to get on the flight to London. It was instantly obvious that even with four hours to spare, I'd never make it to the check-in on time. A large Nigerian appeared and said 'let me take your bag', and you can imagine my response! He insisted that he could get me through and given that he could have hardly run away due to the crowds, I hung on to the back of his shirt as we forced our way to the other end of the airport. He then proceeded to ignore the snaking queues and we headed in a straight line ducking under the barriers. There was so much shouting going on that no one seemed to notice and we finally approached the check-in desk. 'Give me your passport' he said and with some reluctance I did. He then handed it over to an associate on the other side of the barrier. With one eye on my suitcase and another on my passport I stood and waited. After what seemed like forever, and me doing an excellent impersonation of a human shower due to the intense heat, I was beckoned towards the first of many security checks. My luggage was searched but it was clear that I wasn't going any further until I had observed a local tradition of giving the attendant some payment for the privilege of going through my dirty underwear. The transaction concluded

I was then able to check in quite normally apart from my two new found Nigerian friends in attendance. We then went off to ‘discuss the unfinished paperwork’. This involved $50 each to them and a further $100 to an unseen accomplice who had obviously turned a blind eye to what had been going on. I then proceeded to passport control to discover even longer queues. By that time all convention had gone out of the window, so I walked straight up to the fast track desk reserved for first class and business and to my great relief was waved through with my economy boarding pass. I had finally made it airside. I was soaking wet with perspiration and very agitated. It was something of a minor ‘Indiana Jones’ experience I can assure you. One final twist was in the departure lounge. The man behind the desk began to gleefully scratch out my allocated seat number and write a new number on it. ‘Please don’t do that,’ I shouted. ‘That’s my seat and I want it’! He handed it back to me and whispered simply ‘you have been upgraded to Business Class’! A very pleasant outcome after a very traumatic few days. The next thing I knew was being woken up in London, after we had landed; I had made it back home!

International Monetary and Financial Law

The Global Crisis

Edited by MARIO GIOVANOLI, Emeritus Professor at the University of Lausanne and a member of MOCOMILA and DIEGO DEVOS, General Counsel of the Bank for International Settlements and a member of MOCOMILA

- Coverage by world-leading practitioners and academics on financial law from Europe, USA, South America and South Africa, from inside the banking community
- High level analysis of the reform of the supervision and regulation of banks
- Topical coverage of financial crisis resolution
- Discussion of illustrative examples and consideration of the Federal Reserve's response to the crisis

This new book examines current legal issues of international monetary and financial law in the light of the current global financial crisis and consequent reforms of international and domestic financial architecture. The book deals with post-crisis financial regulation and supervision, including that of rating agencies and sovereign wealth funds, and financial crisis resolution with an analysis of bank rescue operations.

Cross and Tapper on Evidence 12th edition

by Colin Tapper

Oxford University Press, Softcover, ISBN 9780199574148, due July 2010, £38.99

The most authoritative and respected textbook in the field, Cross and Tapper on Evidence has, over successive editions, acquired a justly deserved reputation as a classic of legal literature.

The twelfth edition reflects recent changes and developments in an extremely fast-moving and important subject. It continues to provide thorough coverage and analysis of the ongoing impact of the Criminal Justice Act 2003, with a particular focus in this edition on developments relating to evidence of character. The ways in which the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights continues to penetrate English law are also fully evaluated. The wide coverage of overseas materials from the principal common law jurisdictions is retained. This comparative material provides an excellent basis for the critical analysis and appraisal of English law. Cross and Tapper remains the most thorough text on the law of evidence available, and is suitable for use by students and practitioners alike.

Lender Claims

by Hugh Tomlinson and Thomas Grant

Sweet and Maxwell, Hardback, ISBN 9781847039026, due May 2010, £165.00

This new book deals with all types of claims by lenders arising out of property finance transactions. Publication comes at a time when professionals involved in property transactions expect an increase in claims brought against them as lenders seek to recover losses from failed transactions and defaults. The primary focus of the book is claims brought by lenders against their solicitors, valuers and accountants. It also includes a substantive chapter on claims against borrowers/guarantors, detailing the specific practical and legal issues of this common claim. The book deals in turn with claims against solicitors, valuers and accountants, highlighting unique aspects, including risks associated with different types of claim. It considers the specific practical and legal issues of the most common claims brought against borrowers and guarantors, explains important case law from the past decade in almost every area of this subject. Also Covered are mortgage possession claims and related subjects such as subrogation and title rectification. It discusses damages and interest, features chapters on practice and procedural issues related to lender claims including evidence and limitation. Also included is a timely discussion of sub-prime lending crisis and its likely impact on related case law.

The International Law on Foreign Investment 3rd edition

by M. Sornarajah
Cambridge University Press, Softcover, ISBN 9780521747653, due May 2010, £40.00

Given recent seismic upheavals in the world's money markets, an updated edition of an authoritative, reliable textbook on the international law of foreign investment has rarely been so timely. Sornarajah's classic text surveys how international law has developed to protect foreign investments by multinational actors and to control any misconduct on their part. It analyses treaty-based methods, examining the effectiveness of bilateral and regional investment treaties. It also considers the reverse flow of investments from emerging industrialising powers such as China and Brazil and explores the retreat from market oriented economics to regulatory controls. By offering thought-provoking analysis of not only the law, but related developments in economics and political sciences, Sornarajah gives immediacy and relevance to the discipline. This book is required reading for all postgraduate and undergraduate international law students specialising in the law of foreign investments. THIS IS A timely new edition given recent upheavals in the field of foreign investments and provides perfect balance of authoritative overview and thought-provoking analysis. It Looks at related developments in economics and politics to accurately reflect the law 'in action'.

Public-Private Partnerships: A Practical Analysis 2nd edition

by Nicholas Avery

Globe law and Business, Hardback, ISBN 9781905783380, due July 2010, £130.00

Public-private partnership (PPP) projects have been used throughout the world for many years to facilitate major public projects. Post credit crunch, many governments remain committed to this form of finance as part of their strategy to stimulate their economies and maintain public services. This new updated second edition once again examines from a commercial perspective the major sectors where PPP structures have been successfully employed.

The second edition features new chapters on social housing, waste management and the use of PPP across continental Europe. Leading practitioners analyse structures and topical developments, and address overarching issues such as the role of financing institutions and EU procurement rules. If you need to understand the latest techniques relevant to a particular sector in PPP, or to understand how responses developed in jurisdictions where PPP is firmly established might be applied to new markets, this book will be an invaluable tool in your research. This forthcoming new edition is essential reading for in-house and private practice lawyers, facility managers, technical advisers and those working in government departments and agencies.

Family Lawyer and the Court of Protection

by Marc Marn

Jordan Publishing, Softcover, ISBN 9781846612077, due June 2010, £60.00

The Mental Capacity Act 2005 has changed the role and work of the Court of Protection. The court's jurisdiction now extends not only to financial and property matters but also to health and welfare issues and disputes relating to lasting powers of attorney. The traditional Court of Protection user was the private client solicitor and the family member who wanted to be appointed a receiver to manage a relative's financial affairs. The court had a largely informal way of working with few set procedures. The new jurisdiction has introduced formal rules and procedures which must be followed. It has also introduced a new user base. The court is more high profile than ever before. Lawyers who do not undertake private client work will therefore need to understand the court's procedures; for example within the context of any number of family disputes. Accordingly this book, aimed at lawyers who specialise in family matters (such as children, care work or matrimonial finance), explains the relevance of the Court of Protection to their work and provides the relevant law and procedural knowledge needed to properly advise clients.

SMALL CLAIMS PROCEDURE
IN THE COUNTY COURT (5ed)
A Practical Guide to Mediation and Litigation

Patricia Pearl and Andrew Goodman

Price: £19.99
ISBN: 9780854900527
Extent: 309pp.
Size: 152mm x 229mm
Binding: Paperback

Legal professionals rarely receive any formal training or guidance on how to run a small claims case in the county court, while litigants in person often have to conduct such cases without legal representation. A lack of understanding of the rules frequently leads to confusion and mistakes, which in turn adds to expense and causes delay. The fifth edition of this popular title (formerly entitled Small Claims Procedure: A Practical Guide) will prove invaluable for busy practitioners and litigants in person alike, equipping them with the latest know-how on avoiding errors and making the most of the procedures that are available.

The mediation section of the book has special prominence in this edition. Litigants using the small claims track can now agree to have their cases diverted to a mediation service run by the Courts service and at no additional charge. The system has been in operation now for over a year and has proved popular with court users, especially litigants in person. This book sets out the scheme in detail together with practical tips on how to make the best use of this new service.

Updating material in this edition has been significant; of particular importance are the clarified rules on the date upon which court proceedings are served and the material which must be included in letters before action and other pre-action steps. Finally, the book has been made even more user friendly by improved cross-referencing, handy tables and an extensive glossary.

CONSTITUTIONAL COURTS
A Comparative Study

Andrew Harding & Peter Leyland

Price: £19.95
ISBN: 9780854900633
Extent: 384 pp
Size: 152 x 229 mm
Binding: Paperback

This book contains an outstanding set of essays on constitutional courts. In many nations constitutional justice can be identified as a central feature of contemporary constitutionalism. Moreover, viewed from a comparative global perspective it is clear that constitutional justice as well as providing a special kind of dispute resolution, also has been turned to as a means of safeguarding conditions of liberal democracy. What characteristics must such a court possess to undertake the tasks that confront them? These contributions by providing an analysis of features such as constitutional context, jurisdictional scope, organisational features and interpretative techniques to give a selective snapshot of the legal characteristics and the operation of constitutional courts across the world.

The chapters by a team of leading international scholars include a general introduction and then focus on: Austria, Central and Eastern Europe, France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Spain, Turkey, Egypt, Francophone Africa, South Africa, Latin America, East Asia, Indonesia and Thailand.

Andrew Harding is Director of the Centre for Asia-Pacific Initiatives and Chair of Asia-Pacific Relations at the University of Victoria, Canada.

Peter Leyland is Professor of Public Law at London Metropolitan University. Both have published extensively in the field of comparative public law and they are joint editors of the series: ‘Constitutional Systems of the World’.

MIXED LEGAL SYSTEMS AT NEW FRONTIERS

Esin Örücü

Price: £65
ISBN: 9780854900701
Extent: 338pp
Size: 229mm x 152mm
Binding: Hardback

The aim of this volume is to provide the reader with original views on and insight into mixed legal systems in general, and some mixed legal systems and ongoing mixes in particular. The hope is that the analyses to be found in the eleven contributions will be helpful for scholars, students and practitioners who have a general interest in comparative law and a special interest in mixed legal systems, and provide inspiration to pursue further inquiries.

The contributions are a selection of papers presented at the 2007 Second World Congress of the World Society of Mixed Jurisdiction Jurists, ‘The Boundaries of Unity: Mixed Systems in Action’. As can be gleaned from the title of the Congress, the emphasis has shifted from the closed family of ‘mixed jurisdictions’ towards a wider embrace, considering ‘mixed systems’, in addition to the classical ‘mixed jurisdictions’. Following the introduction, the first two pieces inform the reader of the multiplicity of approaches to mixed legal systems and widen the horizon, offering expansion, though retaining exclusivity. Then follow chapters throwing new light on Commonwealth Caribbean, United States Novojo law, Turkey, South Africa, Sri Lanka, England and Ireland, the European Union, and Public International Law and International Trade Law; all showing that we are entering an era of legal studies involving looking at all legal systems anew.

BUILDING THE CIVILIZATION OF ARBITRATION

Thomas E Carbonneau and Angelica M Sinopole

Price: £65
ISBN: 9780854900688
Extent: 390pp
Size: 229mm x 152mm
Binding: Hardback

This book brings together a group of distinguished academics and practitioners and codifies their discussion of cutting-edge topics in the contemporary law of arbitration. A number of the contributors are members of the American Law Institute's drafting committee on the Restatement of the Law of International Arbitration, a document likely to have a significant impact on the development and evolution of law in the area. The subject matter of the chapters variously accesses the development of investment arbitration, the difficulties raised by adhesionary arbitration, the problems associated with the State regulation of the arbitral process, the role of courts in acclimatizing the legal system to arbitration, the continued power of contracting parties in establishing and operating arbitrations, and the significance of recent U.S. Supreme Court rulings. A number of the authors have substantial practical experience in the process; all are well-known and regarded in the field.

Originally published as a symposium issue of the Penn State Law Review, the volume is intended to provide meaningful insights and useful guidance to students and practitioners of the process alike. The perspective adopted in the considerations is both national and international. The Dean of Penn State Law, Philip J. McConaughay, himself an authority on arbitration, provided invaluable support for the symposium and book project.

MEDICAL LAW PRECEDENTS FOR LAWYERS

Charles Foster

Price: £79
ISBN: 9780854900374
Extent: 416 pp
Size: 246 x 189mm
Binding: Hardback

Written by eminent practitioners in their respective fields, Medical Law Precedents for Lawyers provides a comprehensive collection of fully annotated precedents. It is designed to be a procedural one-stop-shop for all lawyers, whether specialists or otherwise, conducting litigation in any area of medical law from clinical negligence to public law.

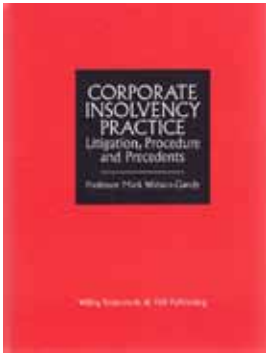

Each section of the book contains precedents – including draft letters, checklists, pleadings, court orders etc – which are designed to be easily adaptable to whatever factual situation the user faces. It is not assumed that the user will be familiar with the legal or procedural reasons for doing things in the way suggested by the precedent, and accordingly each precedent is annotated in detail. These annotations, which are inserted by way of footnote, mean that the book is a complete and very practical guide to most of the relevant procedural law and many important aspects of substantive law. It will be invaluable to any busy practitioner asked for advice on clinical negligence, inquests, consent to treatment, withdrawal of treatment, clinical confidentiality, complaining about a healthcare professional, disciplinary and regulatory law in the medical sphere, public law challenges to the decisions of healthcare bodies and – (of increasing importance) – mental capacity issues.

Charles Foster (editor) is a barrister at Outer Temple Chambers, specialising in medical law. He has written, edited or contributed to over thirty books, many of them concerned with medical law, and is a regular speaker at medico-legal conferences.

Contributors: Susan Bartfield, Lester Morrill Solicitors; Jamie Carpenter, Hailsham Chambers; Cara Guthrie, Outer Temple Chambers; Nick Peacock, Hailsham Chambers; Susan Freeborn, Outer Temple Chambers; Alan Jenkins, Outer Temple Chambers; Fiona Borrill, Lester Morrill Solicitors; Andrew Allen, Outer Temple Chambers.

CORPORATE INSOLVENCY PRACTICE
Litigation, Procedure and Precedents

Professor Mark Watson-Gandy

Price: £79
ISBN: 9780854900466
Extent: 389pp
Size: 246 x 189mm
Binding: Hardback

An ideal starting point for all practitioners, whether solicitors or barristers, Corporate Insolvency Practice is the only comprehensive easy to follow ‘how to do it’ guide for all the most common court applications in corporate insolvency.

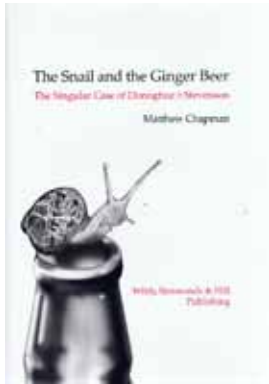

Covering areas as diverse as winding up petitions to administrations to the reuse of company names, this practical book seeks to give the inside track on what the court will expect both in terms of practice and evidence. It provides the busy practitioner with a range of useful precedents and checklists, and sets out the key statutory and practice material for each application.

Fully incorporating the changes implemented by the Companies Act 2006 and the recent amendments to the Insolvency Rules 1986, Corporate Insolvency Practice will prove an invaluable reference for practitioners making insolvency applications in the Companies Court.

Professor Mark Watson-Gandy is a practising barrister at Thirteen Old Square Chambers and a Visiting Professor at the University of Westminster. He is a member of R3 and is an Editor of Butterworths Corporate Law Service. He was recently shortlisted in Credit Today magazine’s Insolvency & Rescue Awards 2009 as “Barrister of the Year”.

THE SNAIL AND THE GINGER BEER
The Story of Donoghue v Stevenson

Matthew Chapman

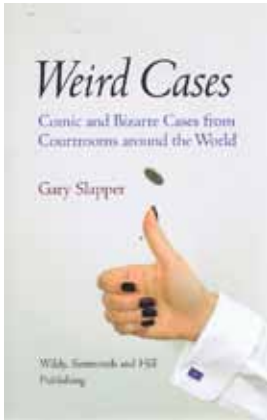

Price: £14.99
ISBN: 9780854900497
Extent: 200 pp.
Size: 152mm x 229mm
Binding: Hardback

On an August evening in 1928 May Donoghue, a shop assistant, entered a café in Paisley. The circumstances of her visit made legal history. A ginger beer was ordered for Mrs Donoghue who famously complained that, to her surprise and shock, a decomposed snail had tumbled from the bottle into her glass. Mrs Donoghue sued for the nervous shock she claimed to have suffered as a result. The question whether she had a case in law against the manufacturer of the ginger beer was argued as far as the House of Lords. It is hard to overstate the importance of the decision in Donoghue v Stevenson. It represents, perhaps, the greatest contribution made by English and Scottish lawyers to the development of the common law.

Donoghue v Stevenson made it clear that, even without a contract between the parties, a duty of care is owed by ‘A’ to take reasonable care to avoid acts or omissions which could reasonably be foreseen as likely to cause injury to his neighbour: ‘B’. This concept, developed by the great jurist Lord Atkin, has become known by the universal shorthand, ‘the neighbour principle’. Who, Lord Atkin asked rhetorically, is ‘in law’ my neighbour? Donoghue v Stevenson provides the answer.

The Snail and the Ginger Beer tells the full story of this remarkable case. It provides vivid biographical sketches of the protagonists and of the great lawyers who were involved in the case. It sets Donoghue v Stevenson in its historical context and re-evaluates the evidence. The roots of the neighbour principle are excavated in the parable of the Good Samaritan and the case law of the United States. The constitutional importance of the case is also dealt with; the blow it struck for a moral approach to the law which departed from a rigid doctrine of precedent. Finally, the book investigates the influence of Donoghue v Stevenson across the common law world: from the USA to the countries of what is now the Commonwealth.

WEIRD CASES
Comic and bizarre cases from courtrooms around the world

Gary Slapper

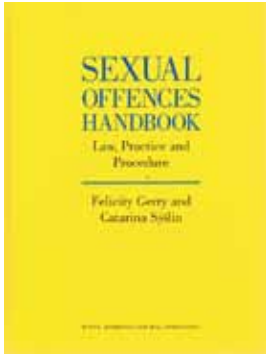

Price: £9.99
ISBN: 9780854900619
Extent: 160 pp
Size: 229 x 152mm
Binding: Hardback

Based on the author's popular Times Online column 'Weird Cases', this book draws on extraordinary cases from many countries, including the UK, USA, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Germany, Italy, Romania, and China. The result is a highly entertaining read for anyone who enjoys reading about the more bizarre aspects of human life that fetch up in the law courts at the beginning of the 21st century.

Courts have seen judges do things like try to turn off a musical tie playing "We wish you a merry Christmas" while sentencing a defendant to prison, fall fast asleep in the middle of trials, flip a coin to decide a case, demand a foot massage from a clerk, and get sentenced for judicial racketeering. Courts have listened to the defences like that of a bogus dentist caught using DIY tools on his patients, a man who based his defence on being as hapless as Homer Simpson, and a woman who was running a brothel from an office in the criminal courts. Courts have seen a litigant sue for becoming pregnant by a stray sperm in a swimming pool, and a litigant suddenly strip naked before the judges.

The cases featured in Weird Cases are those that truly stand out as odd, even among all the unusual dramas that challenge the courts. The chapters are: Compensation and Punishment, Love and Sex, Food, Drink, and Drugs, Judges, Death and Violence, Pets and Animals, On the Road, Lawyers, and Jurors, Friends, and Neighbours.

Gary Slapper is an established writer in bringing law to a wide audience. He is a columnist with The Times, for which he has written since 1998, and Professor of Law at The Open University. He also acts as a Legal Consultant to BBC drama and documentaries.

SEXUAL OFFENCES HANDBOOK
Law, Practice and Procedure

Felicity Gerry and Catarina Sjölin

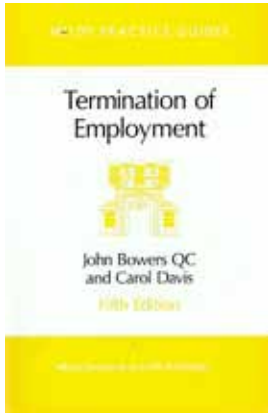

Price:	£69
ISBN:	9780854900350
Extent:	630 pp
Size:	246 x 189mm
Binding:	Hardback

The law and procedure relating to sexual offences is notoriously complex. Since the advent of the Sexual Offences Act 2003, the law (both as to the offences and as to sentencing) changes depending on when the offence was committed, the age of the parties involved and the nature of the act committed. This new guide deals with historic and recent sexual offences, providing a step-by-step approach to the relevant law and procedure, including matters arising before and during trials, from the perspectives of both prosecution and the defence. It also provides coverage of proposed amendments and new legislation arising from the Policing and Crime Bill 2008 and the Coroners and Justice Bill 2009.

Written by two practitioners with extensive experience of preparing and presenting sex crime trials, this practical and accessible work will prove an invaluable reference for all practitioners working within this specialised area of criminal law.

Felicity Gerry is a barrister specialising in serious fatal, sexual and violent offences. She is a “Rape Specialist” advocate and is particularly experienced in complex and lengthy trials concerning recent or historic sexual crime. She has contributed to Counsel Magazine and to BBC Radio 4 “Law in Action” and recorded podcasts for CPDcast.com.

Catarina Sjölin is a specialist criminal barrister. She prosecutes and defends in cases involving a wide range of serious violence, abuse of children and sexual assaults including rape. She has contributed to Counsel Magazine and acted as Junior to the Midland Circuit.

TERMINATION OF EMPLOYMENT

John Bowers QC and Carol Davis

Price: £29
ISBN: 9780854900541
Extent: 255 pp.
Size: 216 x 138mm
Binding: Paperback

This book contains a mass of legal and practical information within a compact, user-friendly format, providing a concise introduction to the law relating to termination of employment. Written by experienced practitioners, Termination of Employment is an invaluable aide-memoire for the busy practitioner, providing practical advice on all stages of an unfair dismissal case, from considering the merits (or demerits) of the claim to presenting the case before an employment tribunal and appealing (or defending an appeal) to the EAT. The text is supported throughout by an array of helpful checklists. Fully up-to-date, the book provides coverage of important developments in the field since the last edition, such as the 2009 ACAS Code of Practice on Disciplinary and Grievance Procedures.

John Bowers QC is one of the leading employment barristers in the UK, practising from Littleton Chambers. He has written over fifteen books, and is a frequent contributor to the Law Society Gazette, New Law Journal and Industrial Law Journal. He is a Recorder on the Midland Circuit and a former Chair of the Employment Law Bar Association.

Carol Davis is an employment and commercial law specialist at Littleton Chambers. She has co-authored numerous articles on aspects of employment law and has lectured on a number of topics, including whistle blowing, discrimination law, disciplinary and grievance matters.

CHANGE OF NAME
The Law and Practice (3rd ed.)

Nasreen Pearce

Price:	£29.00
ISBN:	9780854900442
Extent:	120 pp.
Size:	216 x 138mm
Binding:	Paperback

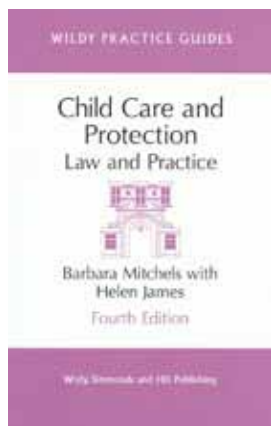

There are many reasons why a person may wish to be known by a different name – on marriage breakdown, or to be relieved of an embarrassment, for example. An adult is free to use any name that he or she chooses, provided that the objective is lawful. For many purposes, however, it is wise to have some formal evidence of a change of name, by deed poll or statutory declaration, or by some other procedure. This can usually be done quickly, cheaply and effectively.

The change in the concept and nature of a family unit, which now includes not only single parents and step-parents but also same sex parents and biological and non biological parents, raises complex issues and gives rise to many questions about the names by which children may be registered, how and on what basis a child's name may be changed and the factors which the courts take into account when deciding any dispute relating to a change of a child's name, between the parents or persons having parental responsibility for the child.

Formerly published by Callow Publishing, Change of Name provides a practical and straightforward guide to this sometimes tricky area of law. Fully up-to-date, the third edition deals with the provisions of the Adoption and Children Act 2002, particularly in relation to Special Guardians, the impact of the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 2008 and the Civil Partnership Act 2004 and recent case law, clearly explaining the procedures to be followed. The range of specimen forms and precedents provided by Her Honour Judge Pearce will prove invaluable to the busy practitioner.

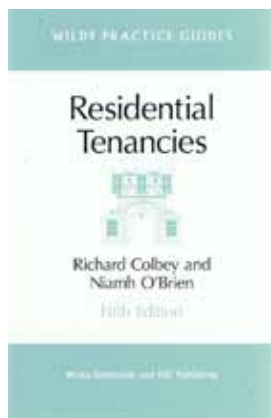

Nasreen Pearce is a retired circuit judge, and was formerly a district judge in the Principal Registry of the Family Division. She has written widely on family law and is a contributor to the Family Court Practice.
