law using modern terminology relevant to current business practice.

Blanco, Luis Ortiz, Market Power in EU Antitrust Law, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £75.00, ISBN: 9781841135281

The notion of market power is central to antitrust law. Under EC law, antitrust rules refer to appreciable restrictions of competition (Article 81(1) EC), the elimination of competition for a substantial part of the market (Article 81(3) EC), dominant positions (Article 82 EC) and substantial impediment to effective competition, in particular by creating or reinforcing a dominant position (Article 2 of the EC Merger Regulation). At first sight, only the concept of dominant position relates to market power but it is the aim of this book to demonstrate that the other concepts are directly linked to the notion of market power. This is done by reference to the case law of the EC Courts and the precedents of the European Commission and the author goes on to argue that for very good reasons (clarity and enforceability, among others) the rules should be interpreted in this way.

Sir Nicolas Bratza, European Court of Human Rights

The Human Trafficking Handbook brings together for the first time expert perspectives from a wide range of key participants in the struggle against human trafficking in the United Kingdom.

IMPORTANT FORTHCOMING PUBLICATIONS

Consumer Credit: Law, Practice and Precedents

by Russell Kelsall
Law Society Publishing, Softcover, ISBN 9781853288746, due January 2012, £79.95

Consumer credit is a notoriously technical and complicated area of law. In recent years the area has undergone significant reform, notably by the Consumer Credit Act 2006, which redresses the balance in 'unfair relationships' between debtors and creditors and requires creditors to give debtors more information, and the Consumer Credit Directive, which creates a complex two-tier system of regulation of consumer credit. Consumer Credit provides an accessible guide to consumer credit and hire law. Its practical and jargon-free approach will allow readers to quickly grasp the main principles and apply them to any situation. This book covers key concepts and definitions, plus worked examples and case studies, the legal structure of consumer credit and issues of current interest including: consideration of the substantial amount of consumer credit litigation in recent years; the impact of the Consumer Credit Directive and its wholesale change of the consumer credit market; and consideration of Office of Fair Trading Guidance (particularly the Irresponsible Lending Guidance) and the proposed change to the regulatory framework. With over 20 key precedents including agreements, notices, particulars of claim and defences, Consumer Credit will be an invaluable tool for solicitors, advocates (including barristers), judges, compliance managers and recovery or collection managers.

Litigating Psychiatric Injury Claims

by Jenny Kennedy, David Marshall and Rehana Azib
Bloomsbury Professional, Hardback, ISBN 9781845921132, due January 2012, £85.00
The litigation of psychiatric injury claims is a rapidly expanding area of legal interest. Written by experts in the field, this text describes and analyses the present law and practice on the recovery of compensation for mental harm in English law. It also includes comparative analysis of the approaches taken by other jurisdictions. It presents an analysis of the strengths and weaknesses of the law in terms of the medical profession's understanding of how psychiatric injury occurs. Lawyers need to understand not only the legal rules and practice and the general direction in which the courts are going, but also the policy issues (some of which are rooted in medicine rather than law) which influence the changes. In its thorough analysis of the topic, possible future developments and proposals for new approaches to the area are considered alongside human rights aspects. This is the only publication to be written from a UK perspective whilst drawing on comparative analysis of case law and development in countries outside the English jurisdiction.

Appendices contain all key statutory rules, regulations and guidance. Immigration Practice and Procedure in Family Proceedings will be an indispensable practice work for family law practitioners, county courts, immigration adjudicators and local authorities.

Powell-Smith and Furmston's Building Contract Casebook 5th edition

by Michael Furmston
Wiley-Blackwell, Hardback, ISBN 9780470655924, due January 2012, £89.99

By bringing together a wide range of cases on the main aspects of construction contract law Building Contract Casebook will help all construction professionals get to know and understand the legal principles established in each case. The casebook presents, in a handy, abbreviated form, the leading cases on the range of relevant contractual topics, together with lesser-known but important decisions. A number of useful decisions from the Commonwealth are also included. The approach is practical rather than academic, in order to ensure it is useful in the construction site office.

Civil Liability for Animals 2nd edition

by Peter North
Oxford University Press, Softcover, ISBN 9780199600816, due January 2012, £49.95

A comprehensive analysis of liability for animals this book covers harm done by dangerous and straying animals including both dangerous and non-dangerous species. Including a separate chapter on special provisions relating to dogs it provides unique guidance from an internationally renowned legal scholar. The book takes account of the decisions of the courts which have applied, interpreted and explained the Animals Act 1971 over the past four decades including the House of Lords decision in Mirvahedy v Henley (2003). Liability for animals which are not members of a dangerous species but which, in the event, may have been proved to be dangerous is a matter of particular interest and concern. The book addresses matters such as harm done by animals in the course of hunting as well as decisions on a number of non-statutory aspects of the law of animals. The book includes the primary material of the Animals Act, 1971 making it a comprehensive point of reference on this subject. An earlier version of this book was published in 1972 just after the Animals Act 1971 came into force. Although the legislation has remained substantially unamended, there has been a steady flow of case law on the meaning and operation of the provisions of the Act.

MORE WEIRD CASES Comic and Bizarre Cases from Courtrooms around the World

Gary Slapper

Price: £9.99
Edition: 1st
ISBN: 9780854901005
Size: 229 x 152mm
Binding: Hardback

The first book in this series, Weird Cases, was published in 2009 and contained cases which had been dealt with by the courts in the previous two years. The parade of extraordinary human disputes and irregularities that are heard in law courts has, however, run on unabated since then. More Weird Cases provides a further instalment of extraordinary cases from around the world that have featured in the author's popular column in The Times Online.

The cases featured in More Weird Cases are those that truly stand out as odd, even among all the unusual dramas that challenge the courts: the case of the man caught with a substantial quantity of marijuana who said in his defence that he only possessed the drug for the purposes of de-worming his ducks; a case where the court authorities didn't accept that 'being a cat' was a proper excuse not to serve on a jury; and one where a man was granted a divorce because his wife thought about having sex with another man.

This book is a highly entertaining read for anyone who enjoys reading about the more bizarre aspects of human life that fetch up in the law courts at the beginning of the 21st century.

Gary Slapper is Global Professor, New York University, and Director of New York University, London. He is also a Visiting Professor of Law at the Chinese University of Hong Kong, and The Open University, UK. A Law columnist for The Times Online, and Door Tenant at 36 Bedford Row, Professor Slapper is also a legal consultant to BBC drama and documentaries.

 Extent: 278 pp

Wills: A Practical Guide explains what is involved in making a will, with particular reference to avoiding those issues which often give rise to litigation. The book contains a concise description of the content of a will and the mechanics of signing and witnessing and is written by two experienced practitioners in a clear and user-friendly style.

It provides a guide to not only what can be disposed of by will but to property which is subject to its own rules. Information is provided on the formalities for making a will, including the testator's capacity and related issues, particularly those involving the elderly, which may affect the validity of the will. The appointment of executors, trustees and guardians is considered along with the dispositive provisions typically contained in a will, including the use of trusts, creation of residuaries, gifts to children and so on. There are also sections on less common aspects of will-making but which often cause problems for practitioners including gifts for the benefit of pets, gifts to employees, gifts of business interest, mutual (as distinguished from mirror) wills, testamentary options, burial and other requests and dealing with property overseas. The importance of providing executors and trustees with appropriate powers and the need to modify what is implied by statute is dealt with, including the importance of making adequate provision for the application of income and capital when required.

Professor Lesley King is co-author of A Practitioner's Guide to Wills (Wildy, Simmonds & Hill); Wills, Taxation and Administration: A Practical Guide; A Modern Approach to Wills, Administrations and Estate Planning and editor of The Probate Practitioner's Handbook. She is the wills and probate columnist for

The Law Society Gazette and writes and lectures extensively on wills, taxation and related matters. Peter Gausden was formerly a principal lecturer at the College of Law. He is now a consultant solicitor at Rowlinsons advising on probate and estate planning. His contributions to legal publications include Tolley's Administration of Estates and Tolley's Guidance and he is co-author to A Practitioner's Guide to Wills (Wildy, Simmonds & Hill).

Under the editorship of two of Russia's most distinguished civilists, this work originally appeared in 1997 and in a second edition in the year 2000, reissued in 2007. The authors have made substantial additions, corrections and emendations for this English-language version as late as September 2011.

There has never been a comparable treatment of modern Russian civil law in the English language.

CHINA'S PRE-TRIAL JUSTICE

Criminal Justice, Human Rights and Legal Reforms in Contemporary China

This book examines the relationship between international human rights standards and local legal norms in the People's Republic of China (PRC). Focussing on the realm of criminal justice in post-Deng China, Criminal Procedure Law reforms and their impact on the PRC's ratification of and future accession to the International Covenant of Civil and Political Rights, this book examines the limits to the protection of criminal suspects rights during pre-trial proceedings.

Notwithstanding the significance of pre-trial proceedings in the Chinese criminal justice system, to date no other publication in a Western language has systematically focussed on this important issue. This book thus fills a serious gap in the literature by offering a detailed discussion of this aspect of criminal justice and human rights in contemporary China. The book is intended as a contribution to the study of Chinese law, human rights law and comparative criminal justice, and by considering developments in Chinese local legal culture, it also explores issues of broader interest to comparativists and legal sociologists.
