WILDY'S BOOK NEWS

Volume 18 Issue 11 Published Monthly

Nov/Dec 2013

The annual Thomas More Lecture at Lincoln's Inn took place recently and we have some photos. Also we have pictures of the launch of our book Disagreement and Dissent in Judicial Decision-making at UCL Judicial Institute. Finally we had the launch at our shop in Lincoln's Inn of Managing Talent for Success published for the IBA by Globe Law and Business.

We would like to congratulate the new Lord Mayor of London, Fiona Woolf, who is a lawyer and partner at CMS Cameron McKenna. We had the pleasure of recently attending a civic dinner in her honour at the Worshipful Company of Stationers and Newspaper Makers.

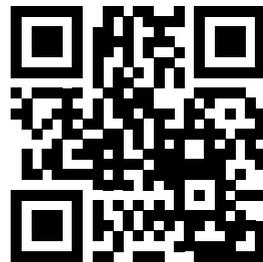

Finally, it is with sadness we note the passing of Graeme Williams QC, author of our book Death of a Circuit: Being some Account of the Oxford Circuit and how it was Abolished. Graeme was just finishing his latest book for us: A Short Book of Bad Judges (see p 56).

The Wildy Team travels are over for this year but you can have a look at our plans for 2014 on p. 37

Disagreement and Dissent in Judicial Decision-making

Frederic Reynold

Frederic Reynold provides an engaging analysis of disagreement and dissent in judicial decision-making. He explores the root causes of disagreement in cases decided over the last 25 years or so in the House of Lords and the Supreme Court, and the light they throw on the character of judicial decision-making at this level.

Disagreement and Dissent in Judicial Decision-making seeks to provide answers to a number of topical questions:

- To what extent, if any, have judges observed the distinction between legal policy (a legitimate matter of concern to them) and public policy (which generally speaking is not)?
- Can a non-lawyer be in a position to assess the merits of the competing views of the majority and the minority?
- Can one talk in any meaningful sense of achieving “a balance” in the membership of the Supreme Court?
- Is the UK Supreme Court, in terms of character and function, heading in the direction of the US Supreme Court?

Split decisions of the law lords and (since October 2009) justices of the Supreme Court have always exercised a particular fascination, and especially those decisions featuring a bare majority. The analysis given here will throw light on a number of topical concerns, eg: the balance in the composition of, and the appointment of justices to, the Supreme Court; and the boundaries between judicial and political decision-making.

Baker, John, Collected Papers on English Legal History, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, 3 Volumes in Slipcase, £250.00, ISBN: 9781107020436

Over the last forty years, Sir John Baker has written on most aspects of English legal history, and this collection of his writings includes many papers that have been widely cited. Providing points of reference and foundations for further research, the papers cover the legal profession, the inns of court and chancery, legal education, legal institutions, legal literature, legal antiquities, public law and individual liberty, criminal justice, private law (including contract, tort and restitution) and legal history in general. An introduction traces the development of some of the research represented by the papers, and cross-references and new endnotes have been added. A full bibliography of the author's works is also included.

Barr, Brian; Grutters, Leo, FIDIC Users' Guide: A Practical Guide to the Red, Yellow, MDB Harmonised and Subcontract Books 3rd ed, ICE Publishing, Hardback, £75.00, ISBN: 9780727758569

The new edition builds on Brian Totterdill's legacy and will ensure that all users are brought up-to-date with the most recent FIDIC developments and its expansion into a more international arena. The new authors bring over 40 years' in-depth FIDIC experience to the book, and have revised and expanded the guide accordingly, including a more detailed section on the MDB, as well as a new section on the subcontract to the Red. Recent case studies and experiences, and newly published forms of contract, are featured to increase knowledge, stimulate better contract administration and highlight accountability.

This concise new book explains and re-evaluates the rules of construction at a conceptual level and explains clearly the principles which guide the courts in interpreting contracts and the associated practical implications. The work sets out the principles and considers each in turn providing examples of how they operate in practice. It covers difficult legal issues faced by the courts (such as the status of an agreement to agree) and the effect that these principles have on the drafting and reading of contracts. The purpose of the book is to give the reader an understanding of all of the issues which are involved in reading a contract. It therefore covers not just interpretation of contracts, but also the implication of terms and rectification.

Calnan, Richard, Taking Security: Law and Practice 3rd ed, Jordan Publishing Ltd, Hardback, £120.00, ISBN: 9781846617386

Taking Security explains how security – the creation and enforcement of proprietary rights to secure the payment of a monetary liability – is taken under English law. It offers a detailed explanation of types of security, creation, priority and enforcement. The book is mainly concerned with property and insolvency law, two areas where security is tested and enforced. Authoritative in approach, this highly respected book provides guidance on both the legal principles and practical issues involved in taking and challenging security.

Christou, Richard, Drafting Commercial Agreements 5th ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Hardback & CD-ROM, £229.50, ISBN: 9780414027084

Drafting Commercial Agreements offers practical guidance for drafting and negotiating legal documents governing business relationships. It covers every type of commercial agreement likely to be encountered by general commercial lawyers, featuring an extensive range of precedents of agreements ranging from the supply of goods and services to joint ventures, agency and distribution, and technology licensing.

This is the second title in the new Oxford International and Comparative Insolvency Law Series. Virtually any insolvency needs to deal with the matter of contractual obligations and this book focuses on the extent to which insolvency law interferes with those obligations and relationships. As with the first volume in the series, the topic is addressed through national reports from at least twenty of the main economically developed countries, all of which follow a uniform structure. This format enables easy comparison between the jurisdictions and substantially enhances the accessibility of material on a jurisdiction to foreign lawyers.

Finney, Malcolm, Tax Planning for Domiciled and

Non-Domiciled Individuals 2013/2014, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Paperback, £125.00, ISBN: 9780414028524

Tax Planning for Domiciled and Non-Domiciled Individuals is primarily for practitioners who are involved in providing advice to individuals, trustees and executors concerning the three main taxes, namely income tax, capital gains tax and inheritance tax. Its focus is both the UK domiciled and non-UK domiciled resident individual although the UK tax issues affecting non-residents are also addressed. Numerous examples designed to illustrate the principles and points under discussion appear throughout the text and extensive cross-referencing allows the same topic to be tracked where it is discussed in a different context.

Fox, William F., International Commercial Agreements and Electronic Commerce 5th ed, Kluwer Law International, Hardback, £144.00, ISBN: 9789041145611

The day-to-day business of international trade is primarily an undertaking between two private businesses based on a contract drafted and negotiated between the two parties for performance by them with occasional third-party assistance. It is this down-to-earth point of view that has caused this incomparable one-volume work to be treasured by business people and their counsel through four previous editions. The book's much-appreciated precise information on a wide variety of issues encountered in setting up and performing international commercial agreements – including those pertaining to intellectual property, alternative dispute resolution, and regional differences – is of course still here in this new edition.

Gleeson, Simon, A Practitioner's Guide to the Regulation of Investment Banking 3rd ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Paperback, £150.00, ISBN: 9780414028135

This book is a complete guide to the regulation of investment banking activities in the UK. It brings together all the legal and regulatory changes that will affect the investment banking industry in the postcredit crisis world, explaining the new principles, processes and regulatory structures for those working in the institutions and their legal advisors.

Gordon, Keith M.; Montes-Manzano, Ximena, The General Anti-Abuse Rule 2013 -14, CCH Editions, Paperback, £89.95, ISBN: 9781847987570

After much debate, the government included a general anti-abuse rule in the Finance Act 2013. The rule targets abusive tax arrangements and whilst this is defined in the legislation there remains considerable uncertainty as to which tax arrangements will be considered 'abusive' in practice. This book provides comprehensive guidance by bringing together in-depth commentary, the legislation and HMRC guidance and also includes a section discussing whether a range of real-life scenarios would be caught by these provisions.

Hewitson, Russell, Licensing Law Handbook: A Practical Guide to Liquor and Entertainment Licensing 2nd ed, Law Society Publishing, Paperback, £59.95, ISBN: 9781907698170

The second edition of this popular guide to licensing law and practice has been extensively revised and updated to take account of these statutory reforms. It also covers amendments to the Secretary of State's guidance, significant licensing law decisions, and new aspects of licensing control, such as the late night levy. The Licensing Law Handbook safely guides practitioners through all aspects of the new and revised procedures.

Paperback, £39.99, ISBN: 9780198704980

Blackstone's Guide to the Employment Tribunals Rules 2013 and the Fees Order provides a thorough comparative analysis of the new Rules and the 2004 Rules together with a detailed commentary on the changes introduced and their relationship with the Civil Procedure Rules. There are new areas of uncertainty for which the commentary offers suggestions as to interpretation and likely effect, as well as identifying and discussing some consequences of the changes of language and approach.

Based on interviews with judges, this book presents the inside story of how judges engage with international and comparative law in the highest courts of the United Kingdom, Canada, the United States, France and the Netherlands. A comparative analysis of the views and experiences of the judges clarifies how the decision-making of these Western courts has developed in light of the internationalisation of law and the increased opportunities for transnational judicial communication.

Mathew, Theo, Forensic Fables by 'O', Wildy, Simmonds and Hill Publishing, Paperback, £19.95, ISBN: 9780854901395

A new paperback reprint of the last complete edition to commence the new Wildy Classics Series. Forensic Fables appeared first in the Law Journal and then in book form between 1926 and 1932. They were published anonymously, but their authorship was quickly guessed. The literary style and the pictorial delineation were alike unmistakable. They were the work of Theo Mathew.

Miles, Kate, The Origins of International Investment Law: Empire, Environment and the Safeguarding of Capital, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £75.00, ISBN: 9781107039391

International investment law is a complex and dynamic field. Yet, the implications of its history are under-explored. Kate Miles examines the historical evolution of international investment law, assessing its origins in the commercial and political expansionism of dominant states during the seventeenth to early twentieth centuries and the continued resonance of those origins within modern foreign investment protection law.

An ideal first source of reference for practitioners, judges, and legal representatives working on any case affecting prisoners, Blackstone's Prison Law Handbook is a complete practical guide to the main areas that give rise to prisoner complaints which include sentence calculation, Independent Adjudications, licence recall, and Parole Board hearings.

Paterson, Alan, Final Judgment: The Last Law Lords and the Supreme Court, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £25.00, ISBN: 9781849463836

Drawing on over 100 interviews, including a total of 36 Law Lords, this is a landmark study of appellate judging 'from the inside' by an author whose earlier work on the House of Lords has provided a scholarly benchmark for over 30 years. With insights from social psychology and strategic theory and collegiality, the book demonstrates that appellate decision-making in the House of Lords, always a social and collective process turning on a number of dialogues between justices and counsel, remains dialogue-based, but is now more varied, being face to face, oral, written, symbolic, contemporary, asynchronic and virtual.

Pereira, Eduardo G., Joint Operating Agreements: Mitigating Operational and Contractual Risks in Exclusive Operations, Globe Law and Business, Hardback, £135.00, ISBN: 9781909416130

This new title examines the most complex provision of the JOA, explaining everything that individuals working in the petroleum industry should know about exclusive operations and their consequences. It begins by explaining what exclusive operations are, the rationale (including pros and cons) behind them, and the parties to which they will be of interest. It goes on to conduct the most extensive practical analysis available on the market, with over 10 JOAs analysed from all regions of the world, together with historical models that are no longer available for consultation. It then compares how joint development zones and unit operating agreements deal with exclusive operations, as they share the same concept as a JOA, but with parties from different blocs or jurisdictions. It finally provides clear guidance on international best practices and their main flaws, along with suggestions for existing and future JOAs.

Company Liquidations is a practical, user friendly guide structured around the procedures involved in liquidating a company. It provides a cradle to grave approach to winding-up, dealing with Receivership, CVA and Administration, and gives step-by-step guidance on implementation of the options available at each stage. This new 2nd edition includes complete analysis of the provisions of the Companies Act 2006 now they are fully in force, and incorporates wide-ranging recent case law and insolvency legislation.

Rawlings, Richard; Leyland, Peter; Young, Alison, Sovereignty and the Law: Domestic, European and International Perspectives, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £60.00, ISBN: 9780199684069
This is a book of essays focusing on sovereignty by a team of leading writers contributing domestic, European and international perspectives. The essays have been written at a time of very great testing of the institutional frameworks at every level: domestic, European, international or global. The book illuminates the enduring strength of sovereignty as a foundational concept and the continuing widespread appeal if sovereignty as an idea.

private law agreements, licences, promises and community norms. These private law instruments reside within a public law framework that grants exclusive and monopoly rights to creators of intellectual property. Written by FOSS experts, this work delivers an in-depth examination of the legal and commercial structures relating to the usage and exploitation of FOSS software. FOSS has become an increasingly important component of the ICT industry, embodied in the products that we use and the systems we depend on. Major industry players such as IBM have embraced FOSS and it impacts on all its users.

Shetreet, Shimon; Turenne, Sophie, Judges on Trial: A Study of the Appointment and Accountability of the English Judiciary 2nd ed, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £29.99, ISBN: 9781107629370

The second edition of Judges on Trial articulates the rules, assumptions and practices which shape the culture of independence of the English judiciary today. Enhanced by interviews with English judges, legal scholars and professionals, it also outlines the factors that shape the modern meaning of judicial independence. The book discusses the contemporary issues of judicial governance, judicial appointments, the standards of conduct on and off the bench, the discipline and liability of judges and the relationship between judges and the media.

Oxford University Press, Hardback, £95.00, ISBN: 9780199685349

The doctrine of sham is one that pervades the common law. This book is the first cross-disciplinary analysis of all aspects of the sham doctrine, from its history and development to its varied practical applications. For practitioners used to working in only one area of sham, this volume allows a broader appreciation of the doctrine as it is applied in diverse legal areas, such as tenancy law, trusts, employment law and tax. These several areas are expounded by experts in their field, including both leading practitioners and distinguished scholars.

Spry, I.C.F., The Principles of Equitable Remedies: Specific Performance, In-

Equitable Remedies is a work of the highest international standing and the common law authority on remedies in equity. Famously described by Sir Owen Dixon as “the best legal book to have come out of Australia”, through each new edition it continues to be cited by judges in the highest courts of the common law world, including the House of Lords, the High Court of Australia, the Supreme Court of Canada and the High Court of New Zealand. Dr Ian Spry’s expert analysis of the law maintains the book’s reputation as a current and reliable source of information, with the 9th edition containing up-to-date case law from Australia and the United Kingdom.

Adoption of core practice management standards, based on Lexcel v.5, is a mandatory requirement for legal practices seeking accreditation under the new Wills and Inheritance Quality Scheme. To help applicants to understand and comply with these standards, this practical toolkit describes the requirements of each standard. Over 30 example documents are provided in this toolkit, both within the book and on its accompanying CD-ROM. This means you can customise the documents to suit your firm's particular needs.

Tiberg, Hugo, The Law of Demurrage 5th ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Hard-back, £255.00, ISBN: 9781847031365

The Law of Demurrage by Hugo Tiberg is one of the most respected titles in its field, presenting a thorough treatment of all aspects of laytime and demurrage. It examines both the legal and commercial aspects of the subject, explaining what actually happens in port during laytime and how demurrage can arise, alongside detailed examination of legal principles and the contractual and liability issues involved. In what is an inherently international area of law, it provides not only a UK common law perspective but also covers civil law principles, together with examination of case law from Scandinavia, China, Japan and other key maritime jurisdictions.

NEW REPRINT to commence the new WILDY CLASSIS SERIES
NOW IN PAPERBACK

Forensic Fables appeared first in the Law Journal and then in book form between 1926 and 1932. They were published anonymously, but their authorship was quickly guessed. The literary style and the pictorial delineation were alike unmistakable. They were the work of Theo Mathew composed in his study on the ground floor at the back of 31 Cornwall Gardens. They show his wit in all its maturity

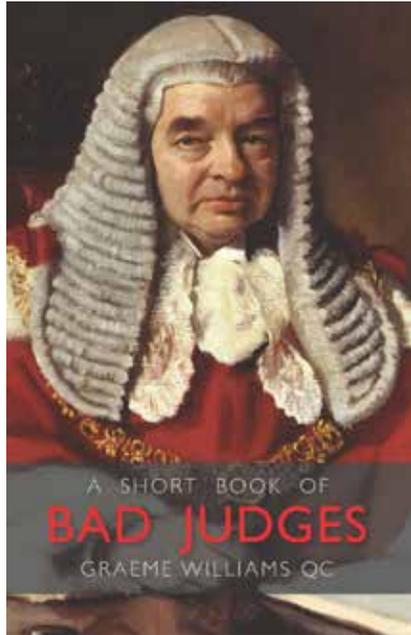

Theo Mathew was born in 1866, the elder son of Lord Justice Mathew. Educated at the Oratory School and Trinity College, Oxford he was called to the bar in 1890 and practised in the South-Eastern Circuit and in London. He established a substantial common law practice and was frequently briefed in commercial cases. In later years he specialised increasingly in libel. He was the author of The Practice of the Commercial Court and for some years was Editor of Commercial Cases. Recorder of Margate from 1913 to 1927 and of Maidstone from 1927 to 1936, Theo Mathew was a Bencher of Lincoln's Inn and was due to become Treasurer when he died in the summer of 1939.

Throughout his life, in addition to his legal work, he found time to write articles literary and historical, mainly with a legal flavour. He was widely recognised as the wittiest member of the Bar, his style lighter than his father's and with a perfect spontaneity. He had a delightful sense of the ridiculous and had a merciless eye for the pretentious. Nor was his wit limited to legal subjects; he admitted once, very reluctantly, that he was responsible for the famous 'Dr. Livingstone, I presume?' story.

Theo Mathew had a deep respect for the traditions of his profession and great affection for so many of those who practised it. This book is evidence of both.

Based on the last complete edition of 1961 and including Hubert Picarda's article "Stick to a Stuff-Gown" originally published in the New Law Journal in 1982.

A SHORT BOOK OF BAD JUDGES

Graeme Williams QC

This is a deliberately short book, summarizing the legal, and in one case the political, life of some of the bad Judges of the last 100 plus years. No claim of completeness is made as to either the inclusion or exclusion of individuals. Having been at the English Bar for most of the second half of the 20th century, a time when judicial standards were very high, the author hopes that an account of some of the undesirable qualities of earlier days may serve as a warning for the future, and prevent the return of the Bad Old Days. The author hopes that a warning of how bad the judiciary was, in many, but certainly not all instances, may be interesting and possibly even useful, in avoiding previous mistakes.

IMPORTANT FORTHCOMING PUBLICATIONS

Dementia and the Law

By Tony Harrop-Griffiths, Jonathan Cowen, Christine Cooper, Rhys Hadden, Angela Hodes, Victoria Flowers and Steven Fuller

Jordan Publishing Ltd, Paperback, ISBN 9781846617560, £55.00, due December 2013

This book addresses the full range of legal issues that arise in respect of people suffering from dementia, setting out the law in a clear and accessible form. Starting from the initial stages of obtaining information, the book follows a logical sequence through: the powers under the Mental Health Act 1983 (MHA); rights to assessment, treatment and care services; the Mental Capacity Act 2005; financial deputies and attorneys; and care funding, before concluding with a detailed section on the remedies which may be deployed to resolve disputes in these areas. This book covers both England and Wales to include additional reference wherever the law differs in Wales.

Blackstone's Guide to the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 5th edition

By Edward Rees, Richard Fisher and Richard Thomas

Oxford University Press, Paperback, ISBN 9780199679560, £49.99, due January 2014

The Proceeds of Crime Act 2002 (POCA) mainly came into force in March 2003, introducing a new anti-money laundering regime. It created the Asset Recovery Agency; introduced wide new powers in relation to the confiscation of criminal property; as well as new civil recovery and enforcement powers. The fifth edition of this popular Blackstone's Guide provides a clear and accessible exploration of POCA. Arbitration Act 1996 5th edition

By Robert Merkin and Louis Flannery
Informa Law, Hardback,
ISBN 9781616310233,

£230.00, due February 2014
This book is an essential resource for any legal practitioner involved in any aspect of English arbitration law. It provides a thorough annotation of the Arbitration Act 1996, and contains comprehensive explanations of developments in the relevant case law to each section of the Act. Since the fourth edition of this book, the English courts have decided many important new cases on virtually every aspect of arbitration law. The most important developments relate to: The growth of anti-arbitration injunction; The use of freezing injunctions against third party assets and the availability of anti-suit injunctions in EU proceedings; The definition of seat, the appointment of arbitrators, choice of applicable law, jurisdiction, the form of the award and the slip rule; Partial enforcement of foreign awards, and challenges to domestic awards by way of serious irregularity or error of law. In this 5th edition, the notes to each section contain helpful sub-headings and a new Appendix containing a fully annotated version of CPR Part 62 and the Practice Direction. The book will also be useful for academics and university students of law at all levels seeking an understanding of the 1996 Act, including those on the Legal Practice Course.

The Law of Proprietary Estoppel

By Ben McFarlane
Oxford University Press, Hardback, ISBN 9780199699582, £155.00, due January 2014

This book provides the first comprehensive and practically structured resource on the doctrine of proprietary estoppel. It offers answers to a number of difficult problems arising in recent litigation and guidance on managing proprietary estoppel cases. Relevant authorities are set out in an accessible and user-friendly format addressing issues that arise in practice, such as ‘reasonable reliance’, ‘unconscionable conduct’, and ‘satisfying the equity’. The long-standing doctrine of proprietary estoppel has come to prominence in recent years - it is regularly discussed by courts at all levels and is frequently pleaded by litigants wishing to show that they have informally acquired an interest in land. As a result of its vigorous recent development by the courts, there is no comprehensive and uncontroversial definition of the doctrine. There is also much debate regarding the relationship between proprietary estoppel and other doctrines, such as constructive trusts and unjust enrichment. A problem faced by anyone seeking to make, or respond to, a proprietary estoppel claim is that the law is to be found almost entirely in cases. The Law of Proprietary Estoppel sets out a clear structure with which to understand the law and will thus assist practitioners, academics, and others in navigating their way through the complex case law on proprietary estoppel, and also in understanding its relationship with related doctrines. This book is essential for all practitioners and scholars who encounter problems related to the doctrine of proprietary estoppel. The clear structure of the book makes the law easier to follow and enables readers to find relevant authorities quickly. The work draws together all of the relevant scholarship on proprietary estoppel and makes reference to useful cases from outside the jurisdiction of England and Wales to aid understanding of the law and related doctrines.

Bennion on Statutory Interpretation 6th edition

By Francis A.R Bennion
LexisNexis Butterworths, Hardback, ISBN 9781405765701, £385.00, due December 2013

Bennion on Statutory Interpretation is the leading work on the interpretation of legislation and essential reading for all those who practise law, whether drafting legislation, administering it, advising on it or arguing it in court. The Sixth edition has been extensively revised and updated to ensure that it remains the seminal work on statutory interpretation for the modern-day practitioner. The work explains clearly and concisely how to extract the relevant interpretative factors in deciding the legal meaning and effect of all types of legislation. The provision of checklists helps to ensure that no argument is overlooked. Critical issues such as how to assess legislative intent are examined. A framework is provided which enables the reader to interpret legislation accurately and confidently. What's new for this edition? References to wide range of judicial approval of commentary in BSI from across the common law world - Extensive citation of developments in the Commonwealth, including as to doctrine of judicial notice and the Barras principle - Revision of commentary regarding mandatory / directory distinction, rule in Pepper v Hart and principle of legality - Consideration of judicial correction of drafting errors under the Inco Europe principle - Re-examination of law of repeals and retrospectivity, including implied repeals, accrued rights and objectionable retrospectivity - Analysis of academic articles, including on proposed revival of equitable interpretation of statutes - Reappraisal of intersection of international and domestic law - Concentration of commentary on European law - Consideration of pronouncements of Supreme Court of United Kingdom on general themes in statutory interpretation, including Cusack v London Borough of Harrow [2013] UKSC 40. The Sixth edition will be kept up to date by supplements as and when required.

Highway Law 5th edition

By Stephen Sauvain

Sweet and Maxwell Ltd, Hardback, ISBN 9780414024908, £175.00, due December 2013

Highway Law is a popular and well established practitioner text on all aspects of the law governing highways. The new 5th edition supplies a detailed and practical commentary on the law relating to the creation, upkeep, development and ownership of highways, including the powers and duties of highway authorities, the rights of users of the highway and of those who own land around the highway. The book will provide the practitioner with a complete reference to the law governing highways and will deliver clear, practical guidance, written in a straightforward and accessible style. It will address matters of particular interest to practitioners, such as stopping up and diversion orders, traffic orders, street works, footpaths, bridleways and bridges. Also to be dealt with is the impact of the Human Rights Act in this area. It will contain sections dedicated to Wales and London, will reproduce key legislation and summaries of relevant procedures and Orders and will incorporate the latest legislative and case law developments.

Financial Reporting for Unlisted Companies in the UK and Republic of Ireland

By Paul Gee and Steve Collings

Bloomsbury Professional, Paperback, ISBN 9781780432298, £60.00, due December 2013

This important new title guides practitioners through their first implementation of FRSs, 100, 101 and 102. Under these new standards, introduced in early 2013, many small to medium sized businesses will be preparing their financial statements under a fundamentally set of rules as the current UK GAAP framework will be withdrawn when the new standards take effect in 2015. The book focuses on explaining the key areas of change for practitioners to focus on and clear guidance on how the new standards should be implemented. This is backed up with extensive examples, sample policy wordings and the use of sample disclosures in each chapter. Unlike some other publications, this title focuses specifically on the areas financial reporting most likely to be encountered by companies who can be classified as falling within the scope of the new standard. Readers will benefit from the approach taken by the authors who have years of combined experience writing for and training in this market. Contents includes: Introduction and Basic Concepts; Financial Statements; Accounting for Assets; Accounting for Liabilities; Accounting for Revenue and Equity; Consolidations; Financial Instruments; Disclosures.

LAW AND PRACTICE OF CHARGING ORDERS ON LAND

Falcon Chambers

Price: £85.00
ISBN: 9780854901241
Extent: 308 pp
Binding: Hardback

Written by specialists with practical experience, Law and Practice of Charging Orders on Land provides a clear and thorough analysis of the law applicable to charging orders on land. Such orders are frequently sought, but can give rise to difficult issues both in terms of the exercise of discretion by the courts, and in relation to priorities. The book provides a guide to practitioners as to the pitfalls that can arise in seeking or challenging a charging order. There is comprehensive citation of authority and reference to statutory materials and the relevant provisions of the Civil Procedure Rules.

The book explains the history of the law on charging orders which culminated in the Charging Orders Act 1979. It explains how to apply for a charging order and how the court is likely to exercise its discretion on such an application at both the interim and final stages. It considers the often difficult issues of priority that can arise in relation to charging orders. It explains how a charging order, once made, may be challenged and examines the process whereby a charging order may be enforced through an order for sale. It also looks at other cognate forms of order which create a charge over land and contains examples of relevant documents.

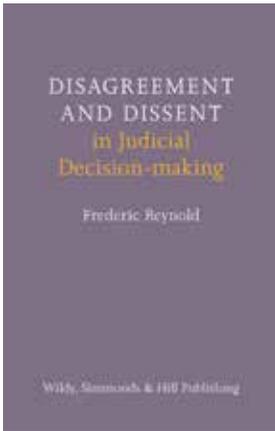

Law and Practice of Charging Orders on Land is an up-to-date treatment of this area of law, covering practical issues and giving examples. It addresses the very difficult legal issues that can arise and provides guidance as to how they might be dealt with.

All the contributors are barristers practising at Falcon Chambers in London, the leading set that specialises exclusively in land law and landlord and tenant work.

DISAGREEMENT AND DISSENT IN JUDICIAL DECISION-MAKING

Frederic Reynold

Price: £45.00
ISBN: 9780854901272
Extent: 229 pp
Binding: Hardback

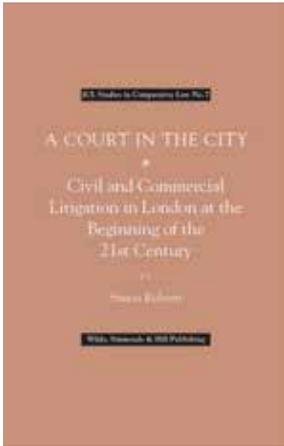

Frederic Reynold provides an engaging analysis of disagreement and dissent in judicial decision-making. He explores the root causes of disagreement in cases decided over the last 25 years or so in the House of Lords and the Supreme Court, and the light they throw on the character of judicial decision-making at this level.

Disagreement and Dissent in Judicial Decision-making seeks to provide answers to a number of topical questions:

- To what extent, if any, have judges observed the distinction between legal policy (a legitimate matter of concern to them) and public policy (which generally speaking is not)?
- Can a non-lawyer be in a position to assess the merits of the competing views of the majority and the minority?
- Can one talk in any meaningful sense of achieving “a balance” in the membership of the Supreme Court?
- Is the UK Supreme Court, in terms of character and function, heading in the direction of the US Supreme Court?

Split decisions of the law lords and (since October 2009) justices of the Supreme Court have always exercised a particular fascination, and especially those decisions featuring a bare majority. The analysis given here will throw light on a number of topical concerns, eg: the balance in the composition of, and the appointment of justices to, the Supreme Court; and the boundaries between judicial and political decision-making.

Frederic Reynold has enjoyed a long career at the Bar, specialising in employment and contract law and related areas. He has appeared in several landmark House of Lords cases as well as more recently in the Supreme Court. In the course of his career he has advised the Equal Opportunity Commission, the BMA (on contractual and disciplinary issues concerning consultants and doctors), and the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors (in respect of professional standards and practice). He was appointed a QC in 1982 and elected a Master of the Bench of Grays Inn in 1991. He is a member of the Industrial Law Society and the Employment Lawyers Association.

A COURT IN THE CITY

JCL Studies in Comparative Law No. 7

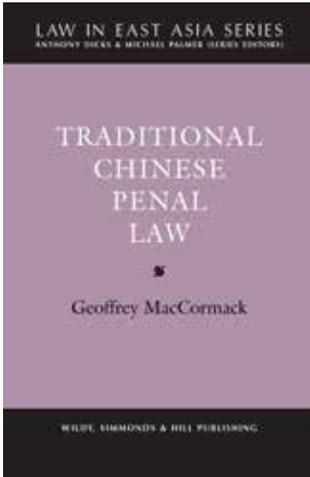

Simon Roberts

Price: £65.00
ISBN: 9780854901319
Extent: 180 pp
Binding: Hardback

This is a study, from a sociological/anthropological perspective, of the shifting emphasis in English civil justice from adjudication to settlement and mediation.

It gives particular attention to the work of the Mayor's and City of London Court, contextualizing some of the findings of the author's recent fieldwork there, in a discussion of the broader transformations that have taken place in both civil justice and the anthropological and sociological discourse about the nature of law and its place in society. Situated next to the Guildhall, in the heart of the city, the Mayor's and City of London Court claims to be the oldest civil court in England. This volume examines the contemporary work of the court in sponsoring settlement against the backdrop of a Victorian building constructed to deliver trial and judgment.

Simon Roberts has taught at the LSE since 1964. His main teaching and research interests are in the anthropology of law, the law of property and the field of alternative dispute resolution.

TRADITIONAL CHINESE PENAL LAW

Revised Edition

Geoffrey MacCormack

With a Foreword by Michael Palmer

Price: £65.00
ISBN: 97808549010930
Extent: 332 pp
Binding: Hardback

The penal law of the imperial period—from roughly 200 B.C. to 1911 A.D.—is of particular interest, although little known or studied in the West, because each of the great dynasties produced codes which functioned both as instruments of government and as a means for the enforcement of Confucian morality. The content of the codes—untouched by Western influences—remained on many important topics largely unchanged from at least the seventh to the twentieth century.

This book discusses the social, intellectual and administrative background of the codes, analyses their structure and gives an account both of the general rules they contain and of the rules in the most important specific areas regulated by them (for example, killing, physical injury, theft, damage to property, marriage, adoption and succession). It also discusses some important branches of administrative law such as the liability and privileges of officials. A final chapter takes up the theoretical issue of the nature of the penal law.

Originally published in 1990, this widely accepted classic has been corrected and revised by Professor MacCormack.

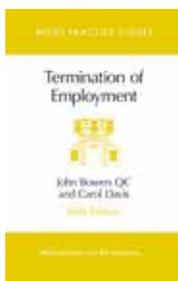

Geoffrey MacCormack is Emeritus Professor of Jurisprudence at the University of Aberdeen.
