WILDY'S BOOK NEWS

Volume 19 Issue 1 Published Monthly

Jan/Feb 2014

We are pleased to announce that we have dramatically increased our range of eBooks. In addition to our long-standing agreements with Hart, LexisNexis and Sweet & Maxwell we are now able to offer eBooks from Oxford University Press, Cambridge University Press, Routledge, Informa Law and many more. You can see the full range on our website via www.wildy.com/ebooks-by-subject or if you have any questions then please feel free to contact us at ebooks@wildy.com. We now have over 5000 titles available for downloading.

ICLR online is being upgraded and re-launched see p.19. This can now be purchased through the Wildy's subscription department or from any of our representatives. On the subject of our reps, if you would like to see someone from our team for a no obligation assessment of your library or even just a chat just contact us at enquiries@wildy.com.

If you have an interest in criminal law or sexual offences, please see Felicity Gerry's blog www.thesexualoffenceshandbook.com. Felicity is one of the authors of our Sexual Offences Handbook. This blog is quickly becoming the first source for comment and information on this topical subject.

New books published this month by Wildy, Simmonds & Hill include Vexatious Litigants and Civil Restraint Orders, The Revival of Private Property and its Limits in Post-Mao China, (see pp 24-25) and the latest issue of the Journal of Comparative Law.

A SHORT BOOK OF BAD JUDGES

Graeme Williams

Price: £9.99
ISBN: 9780854901418
Extent: 80 pp
Binding: Hardback

This is a deliberately short book, summarizing the legal, and in one case the political, life of some of the bad Judges of the last 100 plus years. No claim of completeness is made as to either the inclusion or exclusion of individuals. Having been at the English Bar for most of the second half of the 20th century, a time when judicial standards were very high, the author hopes that an account of some of the undesirable qualities of earlier days may serve as a warning for the future, and prevent the return of the Bad Old Days. The author hopes that a warning of how bad the judiciary was, in many, but certainly not all instances, may be interesting and possibly even useful, in avoiding previous mistakes.

THE REVIVAL OF PRIVATE PROPERTY AND ITS LIMITS IN POST-MAO CHINA

XU Ting

Law in East Asia Series

Price: £65.00
ISBN: 9780854901333
Extent: 245 pp
Binding: Hardback

This monograph examines the nature and significance of the re-emergence of private property in rapidly changing post-Mao China. In examining this issue, the study explores a key dichotomy in Chinese law, that is, ‘public versus private’, and examines the manner in which the Chinese define ownership. The study stresses the importance of lack of clarity in the boundaries between the public and the private in property rights. While there is a limited move towards the recognition of private property in real estate in contemporary China, this analysis also shows that ownership in the law, and ownership as understood and practised socially, often diverge significantly. ‘Modern’ conceptions and theories of property rights emerged in the context of nation-building from the late Qing onwards, and unitary and exclusive property rights were considered as ‘badges’ of modernity.

This analysis of the nature and the social and political implications of re-emerging private property rights provides important insights for our understanding of the changing nature of modern China.

VEXATIOUS LITIGANTS AND CIVIL RESTRAINT ORDERS
A Practitioner's Handbook

Maurice Rifat and David Giles

Price: £49.00
ISBN: 9780854900855
Extent: 226 pp
Binding: Hardback

Vexatious Litigants and Civil Restraint Orders is a detailed and practical work on this growing area of procedure and law. Aimed at lawyers, judges and civil court litigants generally, it provides a 'one-stop' guide and explanation of the law relating to the court's jurisdiction to control vexatious and/or unmeritorious court claims and applications.

The book explains the historical origins of and responses to vexatious litigation, it analyses the legislation and rules designed to meet this threat in the modern era, principally under the civil restraint order provisions of the Civil Procedure Rules and section 42 of the Senior Courts Act 1981. The relevant case law explaining and developing the court's jurisdiction and powers under the legislation and rules, case management strategies for preventing and controlling the worst excesses of obsessive litigants, how parties, facing actual or threatened restrictions on their right of access to the courts, can resist and respond to such applications and orders, and the deficiencies, weakness and limitations of the current rules regime relating to vexatious litigants and litigation are examined.

The book also deals with how the tribunals system and family courts have developed their own rules and procedures to combat abuses of process perpetrated by vexatious litigants. Finally, the book traces, through cases studies, the evolution of parties from the early stages of their litigious careers into fully developed vexatious litigants.

Vexatious Litigants and Civil Restraint Orders guides the court, the practitioner and self-representing litigants around the law and rules, with particular detail given as to the type and procedure of applications that are provided for under the Senior Courts Act and in the civil restraint order regime, and appeals and judicial review against restraint orders that are made.

David Giles was called to the bar by Lincoln's Inn in 1988 and practices from 1 Gray's Inn Square. Maurice Rifat is a barrister, practising from 1 Gray's Inn Square.

LAND REGISTRATION MANUAL

Second Edition

David Rees

Price: £95.00
ISBN: 9780854901296
Extent: 635 pp
Size: 229 mm x 152 mm
Binding: Paperback

Written by an author who has extensive experience in private practice, the Land Registry, and the academic sector, Land Registration Manual is a concise but authoritative source of technical and practical advice on all matters relating to registered land and interests affecting it.

The book's alphabetical (A to Z) approach allows practitioners to zoom in on the specific topic they are dealing with, knowing that the book will provide useful background commentary, along with clear guidance on the form and content of relevant Land Registry applications, which are specific to that topic. The topics are geared to aspects of day-to-day practice rather than areas of law as such – making it easy to use and more relevant to busy practitioners, enabling you to come up with the answer(s) you need, rather than trying to 'fit' your practical problem into one or more broad sections of a book.

Land Registration Manual covers not only the usual subjects, but also many less frequently encountered topics which are often not covered elsewhere. Thus its coverage extends not only from transfers to leases, but from bare trusts to franchises; options to powers of attorney; and chancel repair to embankments and sea walls. Each topic contains accurate commentary to aid understanding and clear guidance on the relevant applications which may need to be made to complete a transaction or protect a client's interests. This makes the book an invaluable 'one-stop' source of guidance for busy practitioners, from partners through to paralegals, and for students through to academics.

David Rees is a solicitor with 25 years' experience initially in private practice and latterly as an Assistant Land Registrar at HM Land Registry. He is an External Examiner to the Solicitors Regulation Authority, an External Tutor to the CILEx Law School and an experienced lecturer and author.
