MAJOR NEW TITLES THIS MONTH

Adeney, Elizabeth, Moral Rights of Authors and Performers: An International and Comparative Analysis, Oxford Univ Press, HB, £145.00, ISBN: 0199284741

This book is a comprehensive guide to the development and utilisation of moral rights across the key jurisdictions of the English-speaking world and in France and Germany. In recent years, the copyright statutes of the common law countries have been expanded by the introduction of provisions dealing with purely authorial rights - moral rights.

Armour, John and McCahey, Joseph A., After Enron: Improving Corporate Law and Modernising Securities Regulation in Europe and the US, Hart Publishing, PB, £55.00, ISBN: 1841135313

This collection of essays provide a comprehensive attempt to answer the following questions: firstly, what went wrong - when and why do markets misprice the value of firms, and what was wrong with the incentives set by Enron? Secondly, what has been done in response, and how well will it work - including essays on the Sarbanes-Oxley Act in the US, UK company law reform and European company law and auditor liability reform, along with a consideration of corporate governance reforms in historical perspective.

Avery, Nicholas, Public-Private Partnerships, Globe Law & Business, HB, £120.00, ISBN: 1905783000

Public-private partnership (PPP) projects are being used throughout the world as a solution to major public projects. This commercially focused title looks at each of the major sectors where Private Finance Initiative and PPP structures have been successfully applied over recent years. With contributions from leading practitioners in the field and featuring analysis of topical developments in key sectors, the book also features coverage of overarching issues such as the role of financing institutions, EU procurement and developments in the debt and equity financial markets relevant to PPP.

Bokks-Gordon, Belinda and Freeman, Michael, Law and Psychology (Current Legal Issues Volume 9), Oxford Univ Press, HB, £80.00, ISBN: 0199211396

This book contains a broad range of essays by scholars interested in the interactions between law and psychology. The volume includes studies of jury trials in terrorism cases, psychological evidence in family law cases, child witness testimony and the role of psychology in punishment theory. Current Legal Issues, like its sister volume Current Legal Problems, is based upon an annual colloquium held at University College London. Each year, leading scholars from around the world gather to discuss the relationship between law and another discipline of thought. Each colloquium examines how the external discipline is conceived in legal thought and argument, how the law is pictured in that discipline, and analyses points of controversy in the use, and abuse, of extra-legal arguments within legal theory and practice.

Boxall, Fiona, Chambers UK 2007: A Client's Guide to the Legal Profession, Chambers and Partners, HB, £75.00, ISBN: 0855141166

An independent guide to the top solicitors, barristers, law firms and barristers' chambers in the UK. The result of extensive market research, the Guide covers over sixty areas of law.

Bright, Susan, Landlord and Tenant Law: Past, Present and Future, Hart Publishing, HB, £60.00, ISBN: 1841135933

This unique collection of essays, written by the leading practitioners, policy makers and academics, looks at patterns of landlord and tenant law: past, present and future. Each sector is explored - commercial, long residential, housing, and agricultural - by taking a look backwards and forwards. The chapters explore the role that legislative, judicial, and policy developments, and market forces have played, and will Law Association prize-winner is highly detailed but with a practical content. The easy to read style guarantees the reader quick solutions to the common day-to-day questions.

Coal Authority; Law Society, Coal Mining and Brine Subsidence Claim Searches: Directory and Guidance 6ed, Law Society, PB, £24.95, ISBN: 1853285749
Since 1989 conveyancers

have used the standard enquiries contained in form CON 29M when acting in transactions involving land or property located in areas affected by coal mining activity. This standard search was developed by the Coal Authority, the Law Society, the Association of British Insurers, the Council of Mortgage Lenders, and the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors. From October 2006, the CON 29M search will include coal mining enquiries and the enquiries previously made by writing to the Cheshire Brine Compensation Board. This fully revised book contains the Law Society's guidance and the Coal Authority's documentation to help practitioners order the search and understand the results. It also contains an updated Directory of Places in England and Wales showing the areas where a CON 29M is required, and a copy of the new form CON 29M (2006).

Collins, Scott and Cattermole, Rebecca, Anti-Social Behaviour: Powers and Remedies 2ed, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £75.00, ISBN: 0421950005
Anti-Social Behaviour: Powers and Remedies is an exhaustive review of the powers and remedies available to public sector and private sector bodies in the area of anti-social behaviour. It uniquely sets out the powers and remedies of many different public/private bodies including housing, planning and environmental health authorities and the police. Increasingly, local authorities have been given more general powers to deal with of anti- social behaviour in other areas.

Cook, Michael, Cook on Costs 2007, LexisNexis UK, PB, £72.00, ISBN: 1405712295

This is well established as a practical, friendly guide providing clear and straightforward explanations of every aspect (except criminal costs) of the remuneration of solicitors and barristers for every level of reader. It aims to explain as well as to inform, whilst being a practical guide through the complexities of all aspects of the costs of contentious and non-contentious legal business. No one who wishes to understand the principles and practice of legal costs should be without a copy.

Davidov, Guy and Langille, Brian, Boundaries and Frontiers of Labour Law, Hart Publishing, HB, £45.00, ISBN: 184113595X

Davis, Colin, CCH Tax on Property 2006/07, WoltersKluwerUK, PB, £72.95, ISBN: 1841407895

From distinguishing between income and capital to considering the property owner's status, the calculation of property tax liability can be time consuming and full of pitfalls. The new Tax on Property handbook guides you through the maze of tax laws and helps you avoid the hazards. It deals with all aspects of the taxation of property and includes information on all the main taxes – Income Tax, Capital Gains Tax, Inheritance Tax, VAT, Stamp Duty Land Tax, Landfill Tax, Aggregates Levy and Business Rates – and how they affect property transactions.

Farr, Sebastian and Oakley, Vanessa, EU Communications Law 2ed, Sweet & Maxwell, HB, £115.00, ISBN: 0421929804

In 2002, new European Directives changed the way the electronic communications sector operated creating an entirely new regulatory framework. They were to be implemented in each Member State by 2003. Now that the new regime is settling down, this work provides practical guidance on the Directives package, and deciphers the complex puzzle of how they fit together. It both explains the new regime and addresses its practical implementation, looking at how it has been implemented in each Member State and assessing the decisions of individual national regulators.

Fisher, Miranda and Whitton, Sarah, Child Contact- Law and Practice, Law Society, PB, £39.95, ISBN: 185328548X

Fuller, Geoffrey, Corporate Borrowing 3ed, Jordans, HB, £95.00, ISBN: 1846610095
Corporate Borrowing straddles both company and banking law. In one volume it defines the most effective ways of raising debt finance – from bank loan agreements to MTN programmes – and examines the specific legal problems of security

Taking an historical approach, the book argues that early policy and regulatory decisions continue to have a significant influence on current reforms. Whilst policy and reform debates focus on ownership and control measures, the book also argues that such measures cannot be considered in isolation from other regulatory instruments, and that a holistic regulatory approach is required.

Howard, Mark, Butterworths Banking Law Guide, LexisNexis UK, PB, £95.00, ISBN: 0406049351

An invaluable first reference point for all those requiring an accessible text on banking and finance. Concentrating on domestic banking in the main, it also covers international banking techniques such as the use of letters of credit, and includes discussion of the impact of EC directives. This book covers all the core issues succinctly and in a practical and user-friendly manner. It will be valued by those new to banking practice as well as senior colleagues, and by in-house practitioners alike.

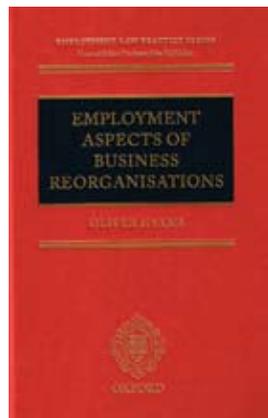

Hutton, Matthew and McKie,

Sharon, CCH British Tax Guide: Hutton & McKie on Stamp Duty Land Tax 3ed, WoltersKluwerUK, PB, £79.95, ISBN: 1841408344

When the first edition of Hutton & McKie: Stamp Duty Land Tax was published in 2003 few could have foreseen the complex way in which the new regime would develop. The practical and technical difficulties in applying the legislation and the differences of opinion between the accounting and legal professions on the one hand and HMRC on the other have produced an area of taxation which is riddled with pitfalls for those who are not up-to-date with the latest guidance and interpretation. Designed to guide the reader through these pitfalls, the new edition also enables the practitioner to identify areas of opportunity for the client, providing practical guidance on best practice in compliance and tax planning.

Hyams, Oliver, Employment Aspects of Business Reorganisations, Oxford Univ Press, HB, £75.00, ISBN: 0199271194

This timely new text examines the various employment law issues arising in relation to business reorganisations. Providing guidance on the most difficult practical issues of this complex area, the book is aimed primarily at practitioners working in this area. However, its accessible style ensures wider appeal to non-specialists.

Jenkins, Jane and Stebbings, Simon, International Construction Arbitration Law, Kluwer Law Int'l, HB,

£91.00, ISBN: 9041123415
This book is a practical guide to dispute resolution under construction contracts. The authors consider the full range of available dispute resolution methods, including mediation, conciliation and - increasingly common in international construction disputes - determination by dispute review board or expert panel, before focusing specifically on arbitration.

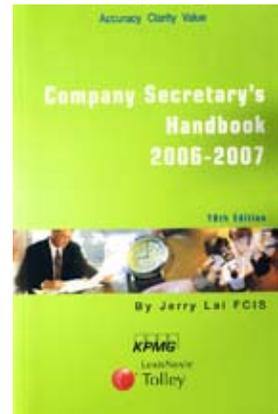

Jones, Christopher and van der Woude, Marc, EC Competition Law Handbook 2006/07, Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £178.00, ISBN: 0421955708

Keay, Andrew, Company Directors' Responsibilities to Creditors, Cavenish, PB, £35.00, ISBN:

9781845680084
This timely work is the first to comprehensively examine directors' responsibilities to creditors in times of financial strife, as well as addressing when these responsibilities arise, and what directors should have to do to ensure that they comply with their obligations. Keay explores the relevant issues from doctrinal, normative and comparative perspectives and seeks to address the question as to when directors are liable for wrongful trading, fraudulent trading or breach of their duties to creditors and whether directors should be held responsible for the before mentioned.

Lai, Jerry, Tolley's Company Secretary's Handbook 16ed, LexisNexis UK, PB, £67.95, ISBN: 0754529584

Comprehensive, fully up-to-date and concise, this 16th edition is your timesaving route to accurate information on the legal and procedural aspects of company administration. It covers all the basic reporting duties, including statutory accounts, membership, directors and capital as well as additional responsibilities, such as employment, health and safety, pensions, insurance, car schemes and taxation.

Lang, Jon, Practical Guide to the Mediation of Intellectual Property and Related Disputes (EIPR Practice Series), Sweet & Maxwell, PB, £79.00, ISBN: 0421938609 Intellectual Property in acquisitions and mergers an area of growing importance, yet there is little information and in-depth guidance to help practitioners through this specialized subject. This book provides readers with everything they need to know about intellectual property when conducting a merger or acquisition and offers expert guidance on the opportunities and pitfalls of intangible assets to businesses. A practical, easy-to-read guide, it supplies handy hints, inside tips and summary checklists on a wide range of issues relevant to getting the deal done.

Lindrup, Garth, Butterworths Competition Law Handbook 12ed, LexisNexis UK, PB, £104.00, ISBN: 1405712341

This book provides busy practitioners with the updated key UK legislation as well as OFT Guidance. Now in its 12th edition, it is fully updated to include significant new legislation since the previous edition.

MacMillan, Ken, Sovereignty and Possession in the English New World: The Legal Foundations of Empire, 1576-1640, Cambridge Univ Press, HB, £50.00, ISBN: 0521870097

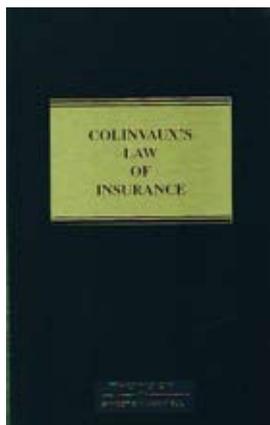

Using documents such as travel narratives, promotional literature, colonial charters, maps, diplomatic correspondence, and state papers, Ken MacMillan offers a major new study of legal imperialism under Queen Elizabeth and the early Stuarts. He argues that the imperial centre had a legal and historical right and responsibility to supervise its colonial peripheries. By drawing on legal resources associated with Roman law and the law of nations, the crown and its agents ensured that English New World claims would gain recognition in the broader European community, thereby establishing legal foundations that would have an enduring impact on the British Empire. The book will appeal to scholars in imperial studies, English and American legal and constitutional history, foreign affairs, and the history of international law.

Merkin, Robert, Colinvaux's Law of Insurance 8ed, Sweet & Maxwell, HB, £225.00, ISBN: 0421947705

Colinvaux presents a thorough but concisely written analysis of all areas of insurance law. Beginning with the contract and insurance policies, it goes on to consider the parties involved, before examining individually marine, life, accident, liability and motor vehicle insurance. It provides a much needed update to insurance law literature at a time of far-reaching litigation and statutory developments. The Statements of Insurance Practice have recently been scrapped, motor insurance law has been entirely revised and new standard marine insurance clauses have been created, while in 2005 the regulatory regime changed fundamentally with the Financial Services Authority taking on regulation of insurance companies and intermediaries.

Meyerson, Denise, Understanding Jurisprudence, Cavendish, PB, £14.99, ISBN: 9781859419564

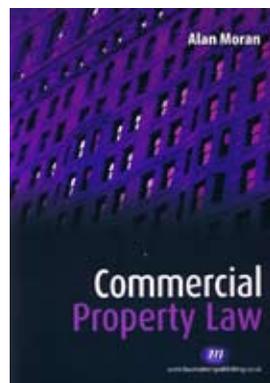

This book introduces students to contemporary debates in jurisprudence and encourages them to think in a theoretical and critical way about the nature of law, legal reasoning and adjudication.

The Internationalisation of Copyright Law Books, Buccaneers and the Black Flag in the Nineteenth Century

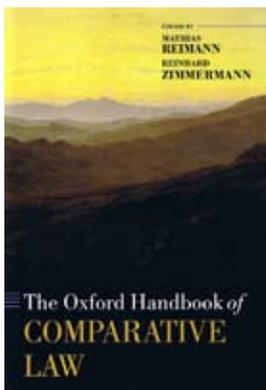

Catherine Seville

Seville, Catherine, Internationalisation of Copyright: Books, Buccaneers and the Black Flag in the Nineteenth Century, Cambridge Univ Press, HB, £55.00, ISBN: 0521868165

This book explores the history of international copyright law, and looks at how this history is relevant today. It focuses on international copyright during the nineteenth century, as it affected Europe, the British colonies (particularly Canada), America, and the UK. As we consider the reform of modern copyright law, nineteenth-century experiences offer highly relevant empirical evidence. Copyright law has proved itself robust and flexible over several centuries. If directed with vision, Seville argues, it can negotiate cyberspace.

Simmerman, Reinhard and Reimann, Mathias, Oxford Handbook of Comparative Law, Oxford Univ Press, HB, £120.00, ISBN: 0199296065

The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Law provides a wide-ranging and highly diverse survey as well as a critical assessment of comparative law at the beginning of the twenty-first century. It summarizes and evaluates a discipline that is time-honoured but not easily understood in all its dimensions. In the current era of globalization, this discipline is more relevant than ever, both on the academic and on the practical level.

Singleton, Susan, Data Protection Handbook 4ed, LexisNexis UK, PB, £59.95, ISBN: 075452941X

The fourth edition of this popular, practical handbook provides authoritative, practical guidance for businesses and advisers on the procedures that they need to follow to ensure full compliance with the data protection legislation and how to implement it. It is comprehensive and easily accessible in an A to Z format, organised into areas relevant to businesses that are affected by the legislation or regulations.

Sydenham, Angela, Commons & Village Greens: The Modern Law, Lime Legal, PB, £55.00, ISBN: 0955283418

The Commons Act 2006, due to be in force later this year, will sweep aside the Commons Registration Act 1965 and introduce a completely new scheme for the registration, management and protection of common land in England and Wales. The Act will enable the establishment of commons councils and give greater protection to commons by repealing section 194 of the Law of Property Act 1925 and replacing it with a new statutory system of control. There are also new rules for the registration of town and village greens based on long user.

Taylor, Paul; Oliver, Timothy and Pether, Michael, Bingham & Berryman's Personal Injury and Motor Claims Cases 12ed, LexisNexis UK, HB, £245.00, ISBN: 1405712333

This classic title provides practical guidance and information to all practitioners involved with motor and personal injury insurance litigation. Covering all reported cases relevant to claims arising out of road traffic accidents, it is a unique combination of practical procedural advice, legal background and diversity of case summaries within, but not exclusive to, the context of motor claims. It clearly explains the principles behind the assessment of damages and offers advice on practice and procedure in the conduct of claims. The new edition has been extensively updated since the previous edition to take account of major changes in both motor and personal injury litigation.

Thurston, John, Practitioner's Guide to Trusts 5ed, Tot-

tel Publishing, PB, £48.00, ISBN: 1845921178, previous ISBN 0754524566

This new edition is a step-by-step guide to all the practical aspects of trust law. A time-saving, concise guide, providing all the information a practitioner needs to answer clients' queries and concerns. Part I deals with matters common to all trusts, from setting up a trust and how to administer it, to breach of trust and removal of trustees. Part II covers specific trusts in detail. For example, there are separate chapters on pensions, charities and life assurance.

on health and safety, this popular handbook provides an authoritative reference source covering key aspects of health and safety, law and practice, as well as related environmental and employment information, in an easy-to-use A-Z format. Providing clear interpretation of legislation and regulations, on a range of subjects from accident reporting to workplaces and welfare facilities, the handbook is fully updated to include any new legislation since the previous edition

Ubhi, Navjit and Denyer-Green, Barry, Law of Commons and of Town and Village Greens 2ed, Jordans, HB, £70.00, ISBN: 1846610443. Common land and town and village greens have value for a number of reasons – ecological, historical, agricultural, sporting or recreational. This book offers a practical explanation of the law, dealing with issues such as the classification of common land and rights of common and the registration of common land and rights of common. This new edition takes account of the Commons Act 2006, which makes significant changes to the regulation and protection of common land.

Watterston, Juliana, Tolley's Corporation Tax 2006-07, Tottel Publishing, PB, £19.95, ISBN: 1845923200. A clear, concise analysis of the main UK tax provisions and an authoritative, illustrated guide to their application. Written in plain language and within an easy to follow structure this annual reference work includes key points, planning points, and numerous worked examples, providing you with the most competitively priced and cost-effective tax research resources of their kind available. Fully up-to-date with the Finance Act 2006.

The areas of law dealt with by this book are divided into discrete sections to which the English, French and German approaches are considered. Each sub-topic is introduced with the relevant material in the English system, allowing easy comparison and assimilation of the other systems. The text includes translations of relevant French and German codal material, and references to a wide variety of relevant cases from all the jurisdictions. The second edition has been brought up to date to cover such matters as the incorporation of the European Convention on Human Rights and devolution in the UK, revisions to the Civil Code in Germany and a wide variety of new case law in a rapidly changing world.

To our best knowledge, all particulars are correct at the time of going to press. However, we regret that we cannot accept responsibility for any errors, and wish to advise readers that price and date of publication may be subject to change by the publishers concerned

The Law Relating to Receivers, Managers and Administrators 4th ed

by Hubert Picarda

Tottel ISBN: 1845922107

£195.00

Picarda's Law Relating to Receivers, Managers and Administrators is widely acclaimed as the standard text for legal practitioners working in insolvency. The new edition has been thoroughly revised to take account of sweeping changes introduced by the Enterprise Act 2002, including a new code relating to administration and the abolition of receivership appointments.

Drafting Cayman Islands Trusts

by James Kessler & Tony Pursall

Kluwer ISBN: 9041124888

£147.00

The Cayman Islands is one of the world's leading jurisdictions for the establishment of offshore trusts. However, it is not easy for a practitioner to approach the drafting of a Cayman Islands trust instrument with confidence. This eminently practical book solves that problem to near perfection.

Arranged as a collection of precedents, with each provision of every precedent explained in detail, Drafting Cayman Islands Trusts, could hardly make the drafting process easier. The drafter learns the advantages and potential pitfalls associated with each provision as he or she prepares to draft it. The authors provide specific language, although individual variations (based on the authors' expert guidance) are encouraged.

Launch of “Death of a Circuit”

The launch of our new title “Death of a Circuit” by Graeme Williams was held in the library of the Reform Club in London. Many of the senior judiciary who had begun their careers on the Oxford Circuit attended. There were short speeches by Graeme’s family, wife Anna and daughters Olivia and Christina, as well as some very entertaining comments by Judge King-Hamilton who, at just short of 102 years of age, can still speak engagingly “off the cuff”.

Misrepresentation, Mistake and Non-Disclosure 2nd edition

by John Cartwright

Sweet & Maxwell, Hardcover, ISBN 0421877200, £165.00, due December 2006

This high-level, practitioner text examines in detail these three allied areas of contract law, explaining the circumstances in which they can arise, the available remedies and their inter-relationship. In one volume it draws together the complex mixture of rules of common law and statute that comprise the law in this area and is written in such a way that practitioners can immediately find a discussion of the particular problem they face. The author provides guidance that will help steer practitioners through the complex range of remedies that might be available for misrepresentation, and explains the links between claims based on mistake and claims for misrepresentation. Recent case law is examined in detail, in particular Shogun Finance Ltd v Hudson (on mistake of identity) and The Great Peace (on mistake), and recent legislative developments such as the Prospectus

Regulations 2005 and duties of disclosure arising from Home Information Packs are considered. The book concludes by drawing comparisons with other jurisdictions and looks at the directions in which English law might develop.

Law of Product Liability 2nd edition

General Editor: Professor Geraint Howells; Contributors: Professor John Birds; Professor Peter Cartwright; Stuart Dutson; Professor James Fawcett; Dr. Richard Goldberg, Norma J Hird; Professor Mark Mildred; Professor Chris Willett
LexisNexis Butterworths, Hardback, ISBN 1405725362, £220.00, due February 2007

Published as part of Butterworths Common Law Series, this new edition provides a definitive statement of UK product liability law. Central to this is consideration of the strict liability provisions found in Part 1 of the Consumer Protection Act 1987 and the closely related regulatory rules on product safety. Other aspects include contractual (particularly sale of goods law) and negligence liability, both of which play an important role in product liability litigation. The book also considers the legal aspects of product liability insurance and important procedural matters, such as the possibility for class actions and jurisdiction and choice of law questions. Fully updated to incorporate the changes since the previous edition, this book is a comprehensive and authoritative exposition of product liability law.

Essentials of Japanese Patent Law: Cases and Practice

by Horoya Kawaguchi

Kluwer Law International, Hardcover, ISBN 9041125728, £81.00, due December 2006

Patent rights depend on many interpretive elements, including even the patent's subject matter and the question of who owns the right. Such elements lead to varying legal approaches in different countries and, since it is in the nature of inventions to be international, knowledge of patent law in a variety of national jurisdictions is an indispensable asset for patent lawyers and their clients. This book provides that essential knowledge as it relates to the patent laws of Japan together with English translations of main provisions of the Patent Law. It provides a systematic and concise analysis of theoretical issues and information of practical usefulness (such as examination guidelines of the Japanese Patent Office) as well as analysis of important case law. The Essentials of Japanese Patent Law clearly explains the way in which patents may be registered and protected under Japanese law, and will be of inestimable value to counsel for inventors and enterprises everywhere. No patent lawyers or other intellectual property professionals will want to be without it.

Sale of Shares and Businesses

by Andrew Stilton

Sweet & Maxwell, Hardcover, ISBN 0421926201, £135.00, due December 2006

This new title helps with every step of the sale of a business. Drawing from his wide experience of all sizes of transactions, the author provides guidance, using examples, on drafting agreements for the sale of any type of business. The book covers both buyer and seller viewpoints, and provides detailed guidance on due diligence, warranties and indemnities, and specialist areas such as pensions, tax and employment law issues. The authors provide analysis of recent important cases, and covers developing areas of concern such as property and environmental issues. A CD-ROM of all the key precedents related to the sale of a business, such as acquisition agreements, boards minutes and power of attorney precedents, is included with the book and regular supplements (sold separately) are planned to cover key developments such as the enactment of the Companies Act 2006.

Shipping Conferences under EC Antitrust Law - Criticism of a Legal Paradox

by Luis Ortiz Blanco

Hart Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 1841135275, £135.00, due January 2007

Liner conferences are among the oldest surviving cartels in the world. Created in the 1870s they have existed since on all the world's shipping routes. With the approval or tacit acquiescence of governments everywhere, they fix freight rates, control capacity and share markets. The United Nations Code of Conduct for Liner Conferences (1974) granted them global recognition and prompted the European Community to recommend Member States to join the Convention on the Liner Code (1979) and to grant them the most generous and extraordinary block exemption from EC anti-trust rules ever (1986). The European Commission's administration of the block exemption has clarified some of its aspects and, to a certain extent, limited its scope; but until very recently, it has not questioned the appropriateness of the exceptionally lenient treatment of liner shipping cartels in the European Union. After a report by the OECD Secretariat (2002) recommending abolition of antitrust immunity for shipping cartels in member countries, the European Commission launched a review of the block exemption (2003) which has not yet finished, and suggested that the authorisation for liner conferences should either be repealed or severely limited. This book studies first the origins, the early history and the regulation of liner conferences in the world and in the European Community, focusing in particular on the Regulation which granted a block exemption to liner conferences. Then, it examines one by one the four conditions for a block exemption to be granted under EC law, and concludes that none of them is fulfilled by shipping cartels. Finally, it recommends that the block exemption is repealed and proposes some alternative scenarios and solutions for the adequate enforcement of antitrust law in the maritime sector.

Future Loss in Practice: Periodical Payments and Lump Sums

by Nicholas Bevan, Theodore Huckle, and Sheralee Ellis
LexisNexis Butterworths, Paperback, ISBN 9781405714921, £70.00, Due January 2007

This handy title provides an authoritative analysis of one of the most important reforms to personal injury practice in the last decade. Taking a comprehensive approach, the book includes a resume of the basic tenets of compensatory awards and an assessment of the failings of the old regime contrasted with the policy aims and expectations of the new regime and implementing legislation, as well as an analysis of the procedure and practice in the process, their merits and demerits. The authors also provide an assessment of when periodical payments are appropriate, including the taxation and benefits considerations illustrated with case studies, and a useful chapter on risk management, examining different areas of potential risk and suggesting practical solutions to limit exposure. Appendices providing aide-mémoire such as checklists, pleadings, specimen letters, client fact sheets, specimen periodical payment agreement and useful contacts are also included. Practical and portable, this book is an essential reference resource and includes commentary for lawyers and compensators alike.

Unfair Contract Terms in European Law - A Study in Comparative and EC Law

by Paolisa Nebbia
Hart Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 1841135941, £40.00, due February 2007

The book examines Directive 93/13 on Unfair Terms in Consumer Contracts and its implementation with a twofold aim: first, to understand the extent to which the Directive has influenced and will influence fundamental notions and principles of contract law in the domestic legal systems of the Member States; second, it examines the extent to which the domestic legal traditions of the Member States have influenced the process of drafting of the Directive and, more importantly, will affect the way that the Directive is interpreted and applied in national courts. The focus is mainly on English law (including the 2005 Unfair Terms in Contracts Bill) and on Italian law, but frequent references are made to the French and the German systems. At the same time, the book has a broader, more 'European' concern, in that it aims to distill from the existing Community acquis and from the history and rationale of Directive 93/13 notions and concepts that could guide its interpretation. It is well known that Community law uses terminology which is peculiar to it, and that legal concepts do not necessarily have the same meaning in EC law and in the law of the various Member States: every provision of Community law must be placed in its context and interpreted in the light of its own objectives and rationale, and of the objectives and rationale of Community law as a whole. In this respect, this book aims to identify the contours and features of the emerging European legal tradition, and to assess the impact that this may have on the domestic traditions.

The Construction of Contracts - Interpretation, Implication and Rectification by Gerard McMeel

Oxford University Press, Hardback, ISBN 0199277931, £135.00, due March 2007
This exciting new practitioner-orientated text provides a clear and comprehensive account of the legal principles and doctrines which come into play whenever the parties disagree about the meaning and effect of the contractual words. Most commercial transactions, from the supply of goods of services to the sale of a business, are reduced to writing. In most cases this entails that the deal is recorded in clear and certain terms for the parties to perform. Nevertheless written contracts are abundant with disputes about the meaning and effect of particular words and phrases. Although the common law principles and techniques of construction are of long ancestry, they have recently come to greater prominence as judges have self-consciously sought to modernise the approach to the interpretation of contractual instruments. This work provides a new and refreshed account of the principles involved, focusing on the practitioner's needs, tackling modernisation head on and equipping readers with the necessary means to avoid pitfalls in contractual provisions. The coverage extends to related rules and doctrines, including rectification and implication of terms, and consideration of the status of the controversial 'parol evidence rule.' The book also considers the nature of effect of particular species of contractual provision, including warranties and indemnities, exemption clauses, 'force majeure' clauses and 'entire agreement' clauses.

Service Charges for Leasehold, Freehold and Commonhold

Written by Gerald Sherriff
Tottel Publishing, Paperback,
ISBN 1845921208, £80.00,
due December 2006

This book is a brand new title that will provide the reader with a comprehensive treatment of the law and practice of service charges. Written with the viewpoints of both the landlord and the tenants in mind, this authoritative resource deals with all types of service charge providing practical advice on how to effectively maximise service charge recovery and how to successfully challenge a service charge demand. This book gives an overview of the way service charges work, detailed commentary on the major types of services, and advice on aspects of drafting and negotiating leases. A comprehensive set of precedents, covering service charge provisions and alternatives, waivers, preliminary enquiries and rent charges, will help the reader to understand and deal with situations that arise in day-to-day practice.

The Foundations of Restitution for Wrongs

by Francesco Gigli
Hart Publishing, Hardback,
ISBN 1841136476, £50.00,
Due March 2007

'Restitution for wrongs', or 'restitutionary damages', is the judicial award which compels the wrongdoer to give up to the victim the benefit obtained through the perpetration of the wrong, independently of any loss suffered by the victim.

The establishment of a civil trial in Roman law, which left compensation as the main response, and a widespread, loss-centred interpretation of the Aristotelian theory of corrective justice explain, but do not justify the difficulties encountered by modern attempts to account for restitutionary damages. Mistakes in the classification of this institution have complicated the picture. To overcome some of these problems, this study considers the basic structure of restitutionary damages from different angles. In part one, the topic is analysed from a comparative perspective. Although the focus remains on English law, the German, the Italian and the Roman jurisdictions provide research data which, in part two, support the development of a theory of restitution for wrongs as corrective justice.

International Mass Claims Processes - Legal and Practical Perspectives

Edited by Howard M. Holtzmann

Oxford University Press, Hardback, ISBN 0199207445, £95.00, due January 2007

Mass Claims Processes have become increasingly important phenomena in international dispute resolution. This is the first book to provide comprehensive information for a systematic comparison and analysis of the legal issues and practical matters involved in their establishment and operation. This book considers eleven of the highest profile modern Mass Claims tribunals and commissions created to redress large-scale losses. They include the Iran-US Claims Tribunal, the UN Compensation Commission (relating to Iraq's invasion of Kuwait), several bodies to resolve claims relating to bank accounts, insurance or slave labor resulting from the Holocaust, as well as to the conflicts in Bosnia and Herzegovina and in Kosovo, and to the war between Eritrea and Ethiopia. The Processes described in this book received claims involving an estimated aggregate of more than 4 million persons and entities seeking over US $4 billion. The book identifies and focuses on forty-seven basic topics that experience shows typically arise with respect to international Mass Claims Processes, offering descriptions and commentary on the ways in which the various Processes have approached each topic. Much of the information gathered in this book is not publicly available elsewhere and is based on the knowledge and experience of experts who have either served on the Processes or otherwise been directly engaged in their activities. This book should be useful to all scholars and practitioners interested in international dispute settlement as well as to those involved with new or existing Mass Claims Processes. Moreover, it may lead to recognition that certain aspects of Mass Claims Processes might have lessons for other procedures for resolution of complex commercial or diplomatic disputes.

Local Government Contracts and Procurement, Second Edition

Edited by Helen Randall
Tottel Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 184592312X, £120.00, due December 2006

This new edition guides the practitioner easily through the key stages of a local government procurement exercise, providing detailed coverage of the basic principles of procurement, the UK and EU constraints, the process of procurement and the negotiations of a contract. This is a truly accessible guide to the complex regulatory regime governing local authority contracting and tendering. Fully revised and updated, the new edition provides a clear explanation of all relevant legislative changes, case law developments and latest policy initiatives, including: implication and application of new procurement regulations; an assessment of local authorities' new trading powers; analysis of the new TUPE regulations; new case studies; new chapter on joint ventures; contribution by the New Local Government Network - leading think tank; improved chapter on drafting and contract management. This practical book acts as a day-to-day reference work, giving the reader easy access to topical case studies, the contents of local authority clients departments with sample clauses, useful advice on drafting techniques and a discussion of contractual principles.

European Company and Financial Law - Texts and

Leading Cases 4th edition

Edited by Klaus Hopt and Eddy Wymeersch

Oxford University Press, Hardback, ISBN 0199227608, £165.00, due March 2007

As with previous editions, this fourth edition features the full text of every piece of adopted European legislation affecting companies and the financial sector, including directives, regulations, recommendations and other relevant instruments. It is divided into sections on banking law, capital movement, company law, consumer protection, enterprise law, insurance law and securities regulation. The purpose of this text is to offer an easily accessible, properly organised and updated collection of all European Instruments that have been enacted in the above fields. Both in legal practice and in academia the need often arises to consult European legislation with the knowledge that it is up-to-date and consolidated.

The book includes section-by-section case commentaries on almost all of the relevant European Court of Justice cases and many rulings from national courts, thus providing a useful guide to interpretation of the various instruments.

Amending a Commercial Lease, 3rd Edition

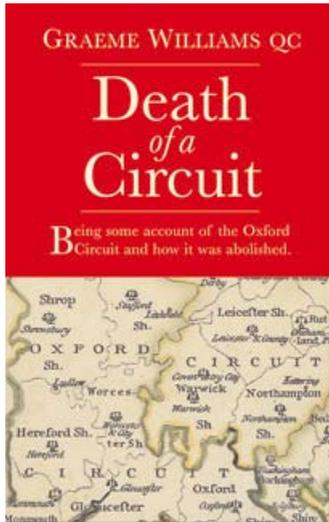

Written By Karl Bamford
Tottel Publishing, Paperback, ISBN 1845922352, £75.00, Due December 2006

This brand new third edition is a must-have guide for any property practitioner who needs to negotiate the terms of a commercial lease. Changes in industry practice brought about by the introduction of the Code of Practice in April 2002 have meant significant changes to the landlord and tenant market. Most significantly the balance of power between the tenant and landlord has shifted, with the tenant now able to take more control.

Now in its third edition, this well-established book will help the practitioner to give practical advice on a commercial lease, identify potential amendments and negotiate the best possible lease terms for their clients. An essential day-to-day resource for new practitioners and a user-friendly aide-memoire for the more experienced practitioner, Amending a Commercial Lease 3ed offers practical information in a highly accessible format. On one page standard lease terms are set-out in full with relevant amendments and additional terms, and on the opposite page there is commentary clearly explaining those amendments, deletions and additions. The author has included examples of recent case law and model clauses from organisations and institutes to support his commentary, as well as offering invaluable advice on effective negotiating skills and tactics.

DEATH OF A CIRCUIT
Being some account of The Oxford Circuit and how it was abolished

Graeme Williams

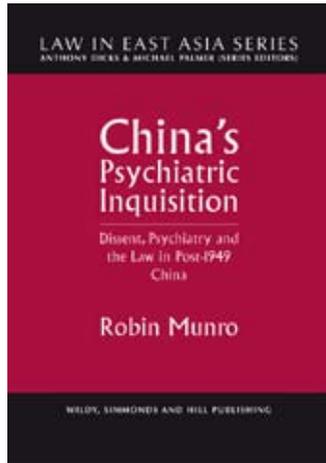

ISBN: 9781898029861

Hardback 124pp

Assizes, Quarter Sessions and the Oxford Circuit. Most barristers (and even some solicitors) practising in criminal work will probably have heard, however faintly, of the first two, without knowing what they were. But the Oxford Circuit has almost completely disappeared from the profession's memory. Yet all three were ancient and venerable parts of the (mainly criminal) justice system, and were in full force and operation until 1st January 1972, only half a modern lifetime ago. This book attempts to describe the pre-1972 system, and in particular the closing years of the Oxford Circuit's independent existence, its peremptory abolition and some of the Circuit characters, in what was a more colourful era than the present.

The author was in practice on the London end of the Oxford Circuit from 1960 onwards. He has been married for more than forty years to Anna Worrall QC, a Northern Circuiter and Middle Temple Bencher. They live in Camden Town and Suffolk.

CHINA'S PSYCHIATRIC INQUISITION
Dissent, Psychiatry and the Law in Post-1949 China

Robin Munro

ISBN: 1898029857
Hardback 390pp
£65

This study examines the misuse of forensic psychiatry custody in China since the late 1950s as an adjunct means – alongside the legal authorities' more frequent use of arrest, trial and imprisonment – of punishing and silencing political dissidents, spiritual nonconformists, whistleblowers and other critics of official corruption or malfeasance. The principal questions addressed in the book are: how common have such practices been in China during the successive main periods in the country's post-1949 history; how have these repressive practices been theorized and handled under the country's evolving criminal justice system; and why have the security authorities resorted to this, at first sight, uncharacteristically sophisticated form of state repression? On the basis of extensive archival research into several decades of China's legal and psychiatric literature, the study concludes that the use of psychiatric custody against dissidents and other similar groups has been more widespread in China than it was in the former Soviet Union.

CHANCEL REPAIR LIABILITY
How to Research It
Revised ed

Derriman, James

ISBN: 1898029849

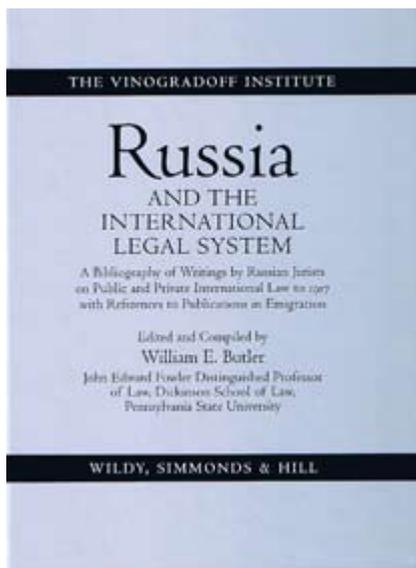

Hardback

£19.95

The owner of any property, however small, in England or Wales, can be liable in certain circumstances to pay for repairs to the chancel of a medieval parish church in his locality. Until a recent case decided in the House of Lords led to a farmer and his wife being called on to pay a £95,000 bill, many property owners, conveyancers and parochial church councils had ignored this apparently remote corner of the law. Now, especially as a result of the Land Registration Act 2002, chancel repair liability has become a live issue.

The need for searches to establish whether any particular land may be affected is increasingly recognised. This book — the first of its kind — provides practical information on how to make these searches. It does not set out to be a legal textbook, but to enable lawyers, laymen and churchmen to understand the background and sources of information available so that they can discover so far as is possible when, and to what extent, liability may exist.

A Foreword by Dr R. Sturt, Diocesan Registrar of Canterbury, endorses its value not only for people who plan to do their own research, but as a mine of information for professionals, parochial church councils and amateur historians

FROM TRUST TO TAKEOVER
Butterworths 1938-1967
A Publishing House in Transition

Gordon Graham

ISBN: 1898029814
Hardback 102pp
£12.95

Stanley Bond, a largely unrecognized publishing genius, instructed in his will that his two infant sons should inherit the company when they attained the age of twenty-five. Until then, the company should be run by a Trust, which he set up, most of the income from which would go to his widow. The sons never got their inheritance. The company was sold twenty-four years after Bond's death. How this came about is a story of intrigue and power plays, in researching which the author had access to confidential archives and was able to interview witnesses of the drama. The result is a tale that throws light on the mores of privately-run companies sliding unwillingly into the era of corporate ownership.

Gordon Graham was Chairman and Chief Executive of Butterworths from 1975 to 1990. Prior to that he had been Managing Director of McGraw-Hill's British subsidiary and International Sales Manager of the McGraw-Hill Book Company, New York.

SEEING JUSTICE DONE

A guide to the Law Courts and Tribunals of Central London

John Griffin

ISBN: 1898029822

Paperback 126pp

£19.95

Seeing Justice Done is aimed at students and overseas lawyers, and at everyone with the time and inclination to visit the Law Courts and Tribunals of Central London as a spectator. The book describes where each of them is to be found, and what goes on inside them. Prominent lawyers explain the difference between barristers and solicitors, and there are eighteen interviews with individuals involved, willingly or unwillingly, in what lawyers call “the administration of justice”, ranging from a High Court Judge to a persistent criminal. The royalties of this book are being donated to the Solicitors Benevolent Association.
