MAJOR NEW TITLES THIS MONTH

Abbey, Robert; Richards, Mark, A Practical Approach to Conveyancing 10th ed, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £34.99, ISBN: 9780199542529

Written by two experts in the field, this text offers a detailed and applied overview of the key principles and procedures involved in both commercial and residential conveyancing transactions making it essential reading for students, qualified practitioners and licensed conveyancers alike. Sample documentation throughout ensures students are fully prepared and familiar with the precedent documents, clauses and forms likely to be encountered in practice.

Abbey, Robert; Richards, Mark, LPC: Property Law Handbook 2008 - 2009, Oxford University Press, Paperback, A4, £29.99, ISBN: 9780199233892

This reputable author team draw on their extensive experience in legal practice in the LPC Property Law Handbook, designed specifically for use on the Legal Practice Course, and covering both commercial and residential conveyancing transactions. Through the use of realistic case studies, fully supported by online documentation, the text equips students with not only a thorough grounding in the subject, but actively encourages students to develop the essential practical skills they will use throughout their legal careers.

Aguilar Alvarez, Guillermo; Reisman, Michael, The Reasons Requirement in International Investment Arbitration: Critical Case Studies, Brill Academic Publishers, Hardback, £110.00, ISBN: 9789004166325

This collection of essays emerged from a seminar on international investment law taught jointly by the editors at the Yale Law School. The participants brought a rich experience and, as important for a subject like this, a rich national diversity.

Aldous, Grahame; Nelson, Linda; 9 Gough Square, Work Accidents at Sea, 9 Gough Square, Paperback, A4, £45.00, ISBN: 9780955519727

Work Accidents at Sea provides an introduction to the language, law, procedure and practicalities of claims relating to work accidents at sea. It guides personal injury lawyers through the mysteries of the nautical world, the particular regulations and conventions that apply, and the procedures of the Admiralty Court. The work identifies the framework within which these claims are bought, and the common pitfalls that befall the unwary. It is complemented by a full set of the relevant statutory provisions, with identification of further sources of information for particular claims.

Arrowsmith, Carol, Reward Governance for Senior Executives, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, £75.00, ISBN: 9780521871594

In areas such as dispute resolution, visibility and investor interest, the relationship between a senior executive employee and his or her employer differs materially from the relationship that most employees have with their employer. Executives are tools which help create shareholder value. A company's decision to employ one executive over another should be based on the ability of the potential employees to create shareholder value for the organisation. It is therefore essential to get both the appointment and contract right. Negotiating and agreeing the right contract requires an understanding of areas as diverse as valuation, employment law, tax and accounting. Covering the appointment of UK executives under contracts governed by UK law, this volume of essays is intended to help anyone involved in the appointment and termination process.

Atkin, Bill, The International Survey of Family Law 2008, Family Law, Hardback, £70.00, ISBN: 9781846611162

The International Survey of Family Law is the International Society of Family Law's annual review of developments in family law across the world. The 2008 edition covers developments in 25 countries written by leading academics and family law experts. Each article is accompanied by a French language abstract.

Barlow Lyde & Gilbert LLP, Insurance Law Handbook 4th ed, Tottel Publishing Ltd, Hardback, £85.00, ISBN: 9781847660930

Written by an expert team of authors from Barlow, Lyde & Gilbert LLP, Insurance Law Handbook 4th edition provides a general, accessible guide to all aspects of insurance law. It considers most major business classes and reflects upon how the essential principles of insurance law relate to them. This excellent work combines a full range of information in one convenient time-saving source of reference.

Bianchi, Andrea; Keller,

Alexis, Counterterrorism: Democracy's Challenge, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £55.00, ISBN: 9781841138183

Terrorist violence is no novelty in human history and, while government reactions to it have varied over time, some lessons can be learnt from the past. Indeed, the debate on when and how a state should use emergency powers that limit individual freedoms is nearly as old as the history of political thought. After reviewing some history of state responses to terrorist violence and their efficacy, this book sets out to assess the effects of contemporary counterterrorism law and policies on democratic states. In particular, it considers the interaction between national and international law in shaping and implementing anti-terror measures, and the difficult role of the judiciary in striking a balance between security concerns and fundamental rights. It also examines the strains this has caused on some democracies, especially a blurring in the separation of powers between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government, giving reason to inquire afresh whether new paradigms are needed. Finally, the issue of whether the doctrine of constitutionalism can provide an appropriate frame of analysis to encapsulate current developments in international law in response to terrorism is broached. By drawing on the expertise of historians, political scientists and lawyers, this book promotes transdisciplinary dialogue, recognising that counterterrorism is an issue at the intersection of law and politics that has profound implications for democratic institutions and practices.

Blanpain, Roger; Colucci, Michele; Hendrickx, Frank, The Future of Sports Law in the European Union: Beyond the EU reform Treaty and the White Paper, Kluwer Law International,

Paperback, £82.00, ISBN: 9789041127617

Sport is life, fun, passion but also business. It is not easy to draw a bright line between sport as an economic activity and sport as a crucial cultural element of society. In Europe, the stakes are prodigious from either perspective. On the one hand, sport represents 4% of the GDP of the European Union; on the other, there are in the EU more than 800,000 sport clubs with more than 70 million members. In numerous ways, the former depends on the latter, giving rise to a plethora of subtle tensions. For decades the EU institutions have struggled with the legal issues that arise from these tensions, and the debate has come to be encapsulated in the complex concepts of the ‘sport exception’ and the ‘specificity of sport.’ Now, the pending Reform Treaty, if ratified, will finally provide a legal basis for a Community action in the field of sport. This new collection of essays presents nine well-informed and insightful analyses of the ‘specificity’ debate from several distinct points of view. The book reprints the papers presented by outstanding academics as well as representatives of the sport world at a conference on the Future of Sport in the European Union held at the Catholic University of Brussels in December 2007. The authors examine the legal and political issues related to the latest developments at the EU level, and their impact on the sport organisations, in order to better understand the future of sport and to answer the questions which will inevitably arise from the new situation.

Bodansky, Daniel; Brunnee, Jutta; Hey, Ellen, Oxford Handbook of International Environmental Law, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £39.95, ISBN: 9780199552153

The Oxford Handbook of International Environmental Law takes stock of the major developments in international environmental law, while exploring the field’s core assumptions and concepts, basic analytical tools, and key challenges. It is intended to serve as an authoritative and indispensable overview of the field.

Bradley, A.W.; Ewing, K.D., Constitutional and Administrative Law 14th edition with 2008 Supplement, Pearson Education Ltd, Paperback, £35.99, ISBN:

9781408200520 Wildy's Book of the Month - August 2008

Constitutional and Administrative Law maintains its reputation as the leading text in this dynamic area of the law. It is written to provide an authoritative account on public law in the United Kingdom and includes powers of the state, the work of government, and the liberties of the individual.

Brownlie, Ian, Principles of Public International Law 7th ed, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £80.00, ISBN: 9780199556830, Paperback, £37.99, ISBN: 9780199217700

Principles of Public International Law has been shaping the study and application of international law for over 40 years. Written by a world-renowned expert, this book was the first to bring human rights into the mainstream of international law. This seventh edition, fully updated since 2003, continues to provide the balance, clarity and expertise expected by Brownlie readers. The depth of knowledge displayed by the author, along with the detailed referencing and logical structure, make this title an indispensable resource for students, scholars and practitioners working in or studying international law.

Chern, Cyril, International Commercial Mediation, Informa Publishing, Hardcover, £130.00, ISBN: 9781843117599

With the directive on mediation in civil and commercial disputes recently approved by the European Parliament, the use of mediation as a method of dispute resolution will increase internationally. International Commercial Mediation is a practical guidebook that will show you how to handle and complete a mediation and market your skills as a mediator. It provides examples, supplies forms and explains procedures of actual working mediations which can be used to adapt to individual needs and also deals with advanced practitioner issues and the emerging law on international mediation.

Coyle, Brian, ICSA: Corporate Governance Essentials, ICSA Publishing Ltd, Paperback, £39.95, ISBN: 9781860723995

Craig, Paul, Administrative Law 6th ed, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Paperback, £37.50, ISBN: 9781847032836

Offers a stimulating approach which helps students gain a thorough understanding of this conceptually difficult area of law

Cunningham-Hill, Susan; Elder, Karen, LPC: Civil Litigation Handbook 2008-2009, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £32.99, ISBN: 9780199539383

Emphasising the practical application of knowledge through the use of case studies, this text is ideal for students taking the Legal Practice Course. Aimed squarely at the requirements of this course, both in terms of content and approach, the Civil Litigation Handbook provides students with an engaging learning resource.

Davis, Jeffrey, Justice Across Borders: The Struggle for Human Rights in U.S. Courts, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £17.99, ISBN: 9780521702409 Hardback, £45.00, ISBN: 9780521878173

This book studies the struggle to enforce international human rights law in federal courts. In 1980, a federal appeals court ruled that a Paraguayan family could sue a Paraguayan official under the Alien Tort Statute – a dormant provision of the 1789 Judiciary Act – for torture committed in Paraguay. Since then, courts have been wrestling with this step toward a universal approach to human rights law. Davis examines attempts by human rights groups to use the law to enforce human rights norms. He explains the separation of powers issues arising when victims sue the United States or when the United States intervenes to urge dismissal of a claim and analyses the controversies arising from attempts to hold foreign nations, foreign officials, and corporations liable under international human rights law. While Davis's analysis is driven by social science methods, its foundation is the dramatic human story from which these cases arise.

Davison, Mark J.; Monotti, Ann L.; Wiseman, Leanne, Australian Intellectual Property Law, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £50.00,

ISBN: 9780521613385

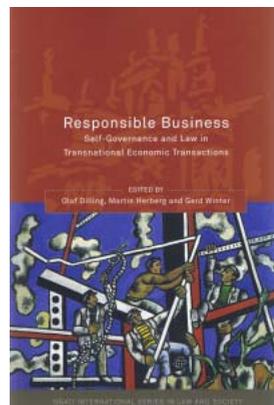

Intellectual property law in Australia has changed dramatically in the last decade and continues to change. Developments in technology, the rise of the internet, the globalisation of trade and the increasing importance of ‘superbrands’ or trade marks with global appeal have all impacted on the laws surrounding intellectual property. Furthermore, globalisation has resulted in greater pressure to expand the rights of intellectual property owners as they endeavour to capture the potential benefits of ownership in an increasingly affluent and integrated world economy. This book provides a detailed and scholarly insight into Australian intellectual property law. It aims to offer students and legal professionals a detailed discussion of the black-letter aspects of the law, with the primary emphasis on the legal principles and complexities within.

De Feyter, Koen; Pavlakos, George, The Tension Between Group Rights and Human Rights: A Multidisciplinary Approach, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £45.00, ISBN: 9781841138299

The discussion of group rights, while always a part of the human rights discourse, has been gaining importance in the past decade. This discussion, which remains fundamental to a full realisation by the international community of its international human rights goals, requires careful analysis and empirical research. The present volume offers a great deal of material for both. It makes a strong case in favour of a multidisciplinary approach to human rights and explores the origins and social, anthropological and legal/political dimensions of human rights and internationally recognised group rights. It explores legal issues such as the reservations to international treaties and methodological questions, including the question of deliberative processes which allow seemingly absolute requirements of human rights to be reconciled with culturally sensitive norms prevailing within various groups.

Dilling, Olaf; Herberg, Martin; Winter, Gerd, Responsible Business, Hart Publishing, Hardback, £45.00, ISBN: 9781841137797

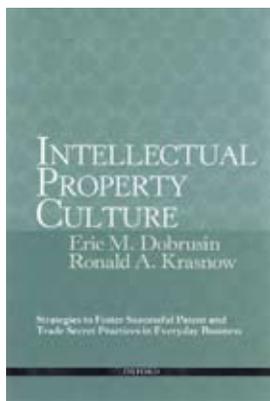

With the globalisation of markets, the phenomenon of market failure has also been globalised. Against the backdrop of the territoriality of nation state jurisdictions and the slow progress of international law based on the principle of sovereignty this poses a serious challenge. However while the legal infrastructure of globalised markets has a firm basis in formal national and international law, the side effects of economic transactions

Doak, Jonathan; McGourlay, Claire, Criminal Evidence in Context 2nd ed, Routledge-Cavendish, Paperback, £25.95, ISBN: 9780415458498

Dobrusin, Eric M.; Krasnow, Ronald A, Intellectual Property Culture: Strategies to Foster Successful Patent and Trade Secret Practices in Everyday Business

ent and Trade Secret Practices in Everyday Business, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £74.00, ISBN: 9780195338331

This book is designed as a practical tool to help foment a business culture founded upon a working knowledge of and respect for IP, with particular attention to patents and trade secrets. It targets common issues that clients newer to IP can expect to face and suggests ways to navigate through the tangle of IP laws both in the United States and abroad. It is easy to navigate and uses plain English in its presentation of practice forms, business practice guidelines, and explanations of patent law.

Draffin, Nigel, An Introduction to Bunkering, Petrosport Ltd, Paperback, £39.95, ISBN: 9780954809713

This is a book that will sit comfortably on the desk of anyone who has to deal with the bunkering of ships, whatever their experience or training, where they can find simple answers to complicated questions. It is packed with useful and relevant data, practical illustrations and enough pictures to help anyone understand exactly what bunkering is all about, yet it is simply written, easy to read, and completely up to date.

Feldschreiber, Peter, Law and Regulation of Medicines, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £95.00, ISBN: 9780199534678

Foreman, Anthony; Mowles, Gerald, Zurich Tax Handbook 2008 - 2009, Pearson Education Ltd, Hardback, £34.99, ISBN: 9780273721437

The Zurich Tax Handbook, 2008-09 edition, is the most up-to-date, authoritative and user-friendly tax guide on the market, explaining every aspect of UK taxation in a simple and accessible language. Designed to show how the UK tax system is applied, the book makes clear what is expected of you in the reporting and payment of tax.

Golding, Jon; Arrowsmith,

Peter, Tolley's National Insurance Contributions 2008 - 2009, LexisNexis Butterworths, Paperback, £99.95, ISBN: 9780754534662
Paperback & Supplement, £114.95, ISBN: 9780754534648

Widely regarded as the 'Bible' of NIC law, this comprehensive guide will answer in depth virtually every point or query put to you for compliance, planning or NIC mitigation purposes.

Goodman, Carl F., The Rule of Law in Japan: A Comparative Analysis 2nd ed, Kluwer Law International, Hardback, £75.00, ISBN: 9789041127501

For five years now practitioners who deal with Japanese law have put great store by the first edition of this major work, which systematically compares US law and Japanese law across all the major fields of legal practice. In the last few years, however, Japan's legal system has changed dramatically. This new edition follows the same comparative structure as formerly, but fully updates the coverage with the many changes currently in place or in process in Japanese law today.

Hannibal, Martin; Mountford, Lisa, LPC: Criminal Litigation Handbook 2008 - 2009, Oxford University Press, Paperback, A4, £32.99, ISBN: 9780199542321

Practice Course. Making effective use of realistic case studies which are backed up by documentation online, the text combines theory with practical considerations and encourages students to focus on putting their knowledge into a practical context.

Hebly, Jan, European Public Procurement: Legislative History of the Utilities Directive 2004/17 EC,

Kluwer Law International, Hardback, £171.00, ISBN: 9789041125583

Directive 2004/17/EC governs the rules, provisions, and procedures entailed in public procurement contracts awarded by EU Member States in the water, energy, transport, and postal services sectors. In the course of the eight-year (1996–2004) gestation period of an EC public procurement policy that would meet the challenges of a globalised economy, it became clear that these utilities required a legislative framework distinct from the general coordination of award procedures that finally emerged as Directive 2004/18/EC. This book on the ‘Utilities’ Directive 2004/17/EC is a companion to an earlier volume on the legislative history of Directive 2004/18/EC.

Hestermeyer, Holger P., Human Rights and the WTO: The Case of Patents and Access to Medicines, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £24.99, ISBN: 9780199552177

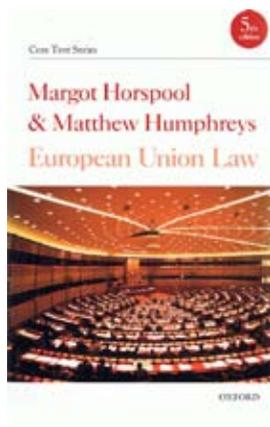

The international trading system has come under increasing attack by activists as being in conflict with human rights law. Others have defended the system as contributing more to the fulfilment of human rights than many other areas of international law. This study examines the alleged conflict of WTO law with international human rights law, using one of the most prominent examples of such a conflict: that between international patent law, ie the TRIPS Agreement, and access to medication as guaranteed eg by the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights. This highly controversial political issue of the appropriate use of international patent law on life saving medicines gained the world’s attention during the discussion about the price of AIDS medication, but recent instances also include the availability of the patented medication for bird flu and for anthrax.

Horspool, Margot; Humphreys, Matthew, Core Text Series: European Union Law 5th ed, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £21.99, ISBN: 9780199234196

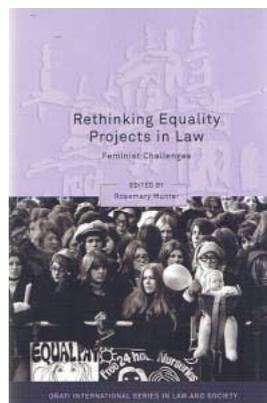

The Core Text Series takes the reader straight to the heart of the subject, providing a reliable and invaluable guide for students of law at all levels. Written by leading academics and renowned for their clarity, these concise texts explain the intellectual challenges of each area of the law.

Hungerford-Welch, Peter, Criminal Litigation and Sentencing 7th ed, Routledge-Cavendish, Paperback, £37.99, ISBN: 9780415442923

Criminal Procedure and Sentencing provides a comprehensive, analytical and up-to-date guide to each step of the criminal process: from the arrest of the suspect through to trial, sentencing, and appeals. Full account is taken of both statutory and case law developments and the book is supported by a companion website which provides regular updates to the caselaw and statutory developments in this fast-moving area. Key aspects of criminal procedure and sentencing are analyzed in the light of sources such as Government consultation papers and academic commentary.

Hunter, Rosemary, Rethinking Equality Projects in Law: Feminist Challenges, Hart Publishing,

Paperback, £22.00, ISBN: 9781841138398

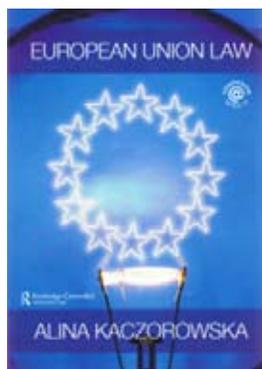

The concept of equality has been a key animating principle of modern feminism, and has been highly productive for feminist legal thought and feminist politics concerning law. Today however, given the failure to achieve material and psychic equality for women, feminists have come to challenge the usefulness of equality as a concept, a particular definition, or a basis for strategising. The papers in this collection reflect these concerns, primarily in the context of English-speaking, common law cultures. Collectively, the papers analyse a range of equality projects across a number of areas of public and private law, considering both competing conceptions of equality and alternatives to it. In taking stock across a century and a half and around the globe, the book illustrates the range of ways in which equality projects in law have been challenged by, and remain a challenge for, feminism.

Huxley, Phil, Evidence: The Fundamentals, Sweet & Maxwell Ltd, Paperback, £26.95, ISBN: 9781847034168
Introduces students to the principles of the law of evidence by using clear text combined with charts, grids and diagrams

Kaczorowska, Alina, European Union Law, Routledge-Cavendish, Paperback, £25.99, ISBN: 9780415447980

Keay, Andrew ; Walton, Peter ; Griffen, Steven, Insolvency Law: Corporate and Personal 2nd ed, Jordan Publishing Ltd, Paperback, £35.00, ISBN: 9781846611193

With insolvencies and business rescues increasing rapidly, even non-specialist practitioners are increasingly finding their work affected by corporate or personal insolvency. Insolvency Law: Corporate and Personal is written in a detailed yet straightforward way, making it accessible to both practitioners and students. This comprehensive book explains legislation and discusses cases on all aspects of corporate and personal insolvency, covering each of the procedures available. The text is presented logically under headings, with pointers to more specialised information and additional cases.

Keller, Helen; Stone-Sweet Alec, A Europe of Rights: The Impact of the ECHR on National Legal Systems, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £50.00, ISBN: 9780199535262

This volume focuses, comparatively and dynamically, on the reception of the ECHR regime within the national legal orders of the Member States of the Council of Europe. The definition of ‘legal order’ used is expansive, including the legislature, the executive, the judiciary - and indeed, any public authority established through constitutional and public law that produces or applies legal norms. The central enquiry of the book is how, through what mechanisms, and to what extent, the national legal orders of the Member States are coordinated with, adapted to, or adjusted by the ECHR - emphasizing both the co-operative and conflictive aspects of reception.

Kramer, Matthew; Grant, Claire; Colburn, Ben; Hatzistavrou, The Legacy of H.L.A. Hart: Legal, Political and Moral Philosophy, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £60.00, ISBN: 9780199542895

This book is the product of a major British Academy Symposium held in 2007 to mark the centenary of the birth of H.L.A. Hart, the most important legal philosopher and one of the most important political philosophers of the twentieth century. The book brings together contributions from eighteen of the world's foremost legal and political philosophers who explore the many subjects in which Hart produced influential work. Each essay engages in an original analysis of philosophical problems that were tackled by Hart, some essays including extended critical discussions of his major works: The Concept of Law, Punishment and Responsibility, Causation in the Law and Law, Liberty and Morality.

Lacey, Nicola, Women, Crime, and Character: From Moll Flanders to Tess of the D'Urbervilles, Oxford University Press, Hardback, £19.99, ISBN: 9780199544363

In the early 18th Century,

Daniel Defoe found it natural to write a novel whose heroine was a sexually adventurous, socially marginal property offender. Only half a century later, this would have been next to unthinkable. Lacey explores the disappearance of Moll, and her supersession in the annals of literary female offenders by heroines like Tess, serving as a metaphor for fundamental changes in ideas of selfhood, gender and social order in 18th and 19th Century England. Drawing on law, literature, philosophy and social history, she argues that these broad changes underpinned a radical shift in mechanisms of responsibility-attribution, with decisive implications for the criminalisation of women.

tion to European Tax Law: Direct Taxation, Spiramus Press Ltd, Softcover, £27.95, ISBN: 9781904905868

Direct taxation is still within the competence of the Member States. However, European law has become increasingly influential in this area as well. Most provisions of European law are directly applicable. They thus have an immediate impact on taxpayers and tax authorities when applying domestic tax law. This book will serve as an introduction to European direct taxation for both students and practitioners. However, we hope that this book will also be of assistance to experts in European law who have so far considered tax law (and in particular direct taxation) as too technical a domain, as well as to tax law experts who have so far been not familiar with the problems of compatibility with European law.

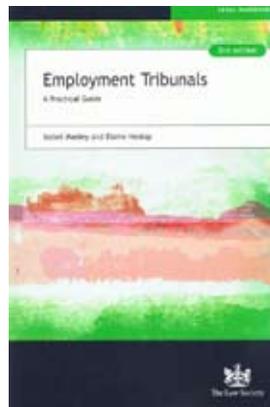

MacKenzie, Judith-Anne; Phillips, Mary, Textbook on Land Law 12th ed, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £27.99, ISBN: 9780199540990

law from a practical perspective. It focuses on the modern law, confining discussion of historical developments to the minimum necessary to understand basic principles and concentrate on the law as it is now. The book is consistently recommended to students for its accuracy and ease of use. It is written in a direct and informal style, explaining the law in non-technical language and warning of possible misunderstandings and confusions. Rules are illustrated by reference to real-life situations in a fictitious town, bringing the subject to life and enhancing the reader's understanding of problem areas. Useful features include a glossary, sample documents and further reading references.

Manley, Isabel; Heslop,

Elaine, Employment Tribunals: A Practical Guide 2nd ed, Law Society Publishing, Paperback, £49.95, ISBN: 9781853286339

This indispensable guide to employment tribunals has been completely updated and revised. It provides thorough coverage of the legal and procedural issues involved in bringing a case, both from the claimant and respondent perspectives.

Mavroidis, Petros C., Trade in Goods: An Analysis of International Trade Agreements, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £29.95, ISBN: 9780199552139

This book analyses the establishment and operation of international agreements regulating trade in goods, focusing on the General

Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). The book outlines the history of the international trading system from the creation of the first GATT agreement in 1947 to the establishment of the World Trade Organization in 1994. The major substantive provisions of the GATT are then analysed alongside the other foundational trade agreements of the WTO, clarifying the economic rationale for the current legal framework.

McFarlane, Andrew, Hershman & McFarlane: Children Act Handbook 2008/2009, Family Law, Paperback, £45.00, ISBN: 9781846611254

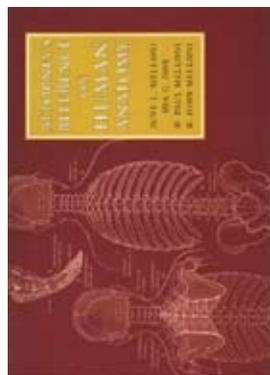

A single volume source of key children proceedings legislation and related guidance. It contains consolidated, fully amended and annotated texts of the Children Act 1989. Hershman & McFarlane Children Act Handbook 2008/09 meets the need for a reliable, up-to-date and yet still portable source, and will be used in court by all child law practitioners, judges and social workers.

Melloni, June L.; Dox, Ida G.; Melloni, B. John; Melloni, H. Paul, Attorney's Reference on Human Anatomy, Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £35.00, ISBN: 9780521696081

This book provides attorneys and research assistants with quick and easy access to information previously found only by searching multiple sources. The format of the book includes a careful balance of text describing anatomic structures and illustrations enhancing those descriptions. The text is placed on one page with its corresponding illustrations on the opposing page. Information is grouped into separate sections of arteries, bones, muscles, nerves, and veins.

rate restructuring, including commercial and investment banks, hedge funds, mezzanine funds, institutional investors, private equity firms, law firms, insolvency firms and turnaround management firms.

Penner, James, McCoubrey & White's Textbook on Jurisprudence 4th ed, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £28.99, ISBN: 9780199299867

This textbook provides an introduction to and analysis of the major theories and controversies of jurisprudence. Starting with an overview of the nature of jurisprudence, the author then moves on to examine the content, main protagonists, implications, and problems of the major theories in more detail. In doing so, many of the complexities of jurisprudence are broken down to reveal the fascinating philosophical and academic debates that surround this subject.

Poole, Jill, Casebook on Contract Law 9th ed, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £27.99, ISBN: 9780199233526

Jill Poole's best-selling Casebook on Contract Law provides a clear and well-structured explanation of the principles and rules of contract law through a comprehensive selection of case law, addressing all aspects encountered on undergraduate courses. The coverage in this new edition has been revised to incorporate all recent significant decisions and judgments made by the House of Lords and the Court of Appeal.

Robbe, Jan Job de Vries,

Securitization Law and Practice: In the Face of the Credit Crunch, Kluwer Law International, Hardback, £102.00, ISBN: 9789041127150

Securitization—once a fairly straightforward means of offering collateral for investment—has mushroomed into a massively complex area of financial practice. The central role occupied by such risk-distributing products as collateral debt obligations (CDOs), credit default swaps (CDSs), collateral loan obligations (CLOs), and credit derivatives has given rise to one of the most crucial inquiries of our era: Is the financial collapse that threatens the world financial system due merely to rogue traders? Or is there something in the derivative idea itself that spells inevitable disaster? Most important, can we isolate the truly productive aspects of securitization and learn to recognise pitfalls in advance? As always in such ideational minefields, it is the legal practitioners who are expected to provide guidance to distressed investors and asset dealers. Hence this vital new book.

Roberts, Marian, Mediation in Family Disputes 3rd ed, Ashgate Publishing Ltd, Paperback, £22.50, ISBN: 9780754646242

ed, Tottel Publishing Ltd, Paperback, £58.00, ISBN: 9781847661104

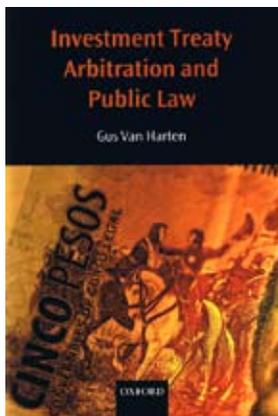

This new edition is a step-by-step guide to all the practical aspects of trust law. A time-saving, concise guide, providing all the information a practitioner needs to answer clients' queries and concerns.

Tushnet, Mark, Legal Scholarship and Education, Ashgate Publishing Ltd, Hardback, £70.00, ISBN: 9780754626732

This book collects Mark Tushnet's essays on legal scholarship and legal education written between the 1970s and the end of the twentieth century. The essays deal with the development of critical legal studies and its current state, with persistent questions about the intellectual status of legal scholarship, with interdisciplinary legal scholarship (including law and economics), and with selected topics in legal pedagogy.

Van Harten, Gus, Investment Treaty Arbitration and Public Law, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £24.99, ISBN: 9780199552146

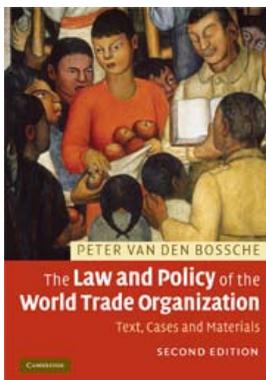

Controversially questions whether the recent explosion in investment treaty arbitration is a corruption of public law principles. The recent explosion of investment treaty arbitration marks a revolutionary change in both international and public law, above all because it demonstrates how states have unwittingly privatised key powers of the courts in public law.

Van Houtte, Hans; Das, Hans; Delmartino, Bart; Yi, Iasson, Post-War Restoration of Property Rights Under International Law 2 Volume Set, Cambridge University Press, Hardback, 2 Volumes, £140.00, ISBN: 9780521898317

This 2-volume set reviews modern-day mass claims practice. Volume I shows how new mass claims programmes have built upon traditional dispute resolution mechanisms, and also examines the substantive law rules protecting property rights. Volume II focuses on the administration of evidence and the techniques developed to decide mass claims, including the use of statistical sampling.

Van den Bossche, Peter, The Law and Policy of the World Trade Organization: Text, Cases and Materials 2nd ed., Cambridge University Press, Paperback, £48.00, ISBN: 9780521727594

As the leading student text in the field, this title provides both a detailed examination of the law of the World Trade Organization and a clear introduction to the basic principles and underlying logic of the world trading system. It explores the institutional aspects of the WTO together with the substantive law. New to this edition are examinations of the WTO rules on the protection of intellectual property rights and the rules on technical barriers to trade and sanitary and phytosanitary measures. Assignments are integrated throughout to allow students to assess their understanding, while chapter summaries reinforce learning. Exercises have been included to draw on primary sources and real-life trade scenarios, enabling students to hone their practical and analytical skills. The title is an essential tool for any student of the WTO, at either undergraduate or postgraduate level. Practicing lawyers and policy-makers who are looking for an introduction to WTO law will also find this title invaluable.

Ward, Richard; Akhtar, Amanda, Walker & Walker's English Legal System 10th ed, Oxford University Press, Paperback, £27.99, ISBN: 9780199214877

This established textbook provides a valuable point of learning and reference for students. The authors offer a clear and authoritative explanation of the main principles, rules, and issues involved in the English legal system, to create an essential tool for all students who need to understand this important subject. The central issues are illustrated through the use of a wide range of case law, which helps to bring the subject to life and demonstrates its practical application.

Watchman, Paul Q., Climate Change: A Guide to Carbon Law and Practice, Globe Business Publishing, Hardback, £110.00, ISBN: 9781905783120

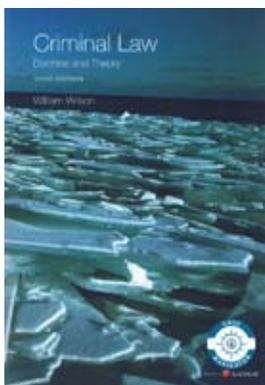

This important new title introduces climate change law and describes how it has evolved. The book describes how carbon projects - particularly those under the Kyoto Protocol - are set up and operated, and how the credits from those projects are brought to the market.

It also describes the operation of the carbon markets, with an exploration of how the current markets may be expanded to create a global market in the future. The final part considers how climate change issues are impacting on other areas such as accountancy and taxation, corporate social responsibility, transactions, litigation, competition and real estate. This book provides an in-depth overview of the current climate change issues facing lawyers and other professionals, including accountants, consultants, bankers and tax advisers. It provides a valuable source of information for those new to this fast-evolving sector through to more experienced climate change professionals.

Wilson, William, Criminal Law: Doctrine and Theory 3rd ed, Pearson Higher Education, Paperback, £32.99,

ISBN: 9781405858397

Acclaimed in leading academic journals, this book was the first to combine detailed coverage of criminal law with the latest theoretical debates and the social and political issues underpinning them. Above all, it does so in a clear and engaging manner so that undergraduate students can quickly grasp the subject and become confident in developing their understanding beyond the basics.

Zebedee, John; Ward, Martin; Lister, Sam, Guide to Housing Benefit and Council Tax Benefit 2008 - 09, Shelter Publications, Paperback, £24.00, ISBN: 9781905018628

John Pethick's latest trip to the Caribbean

Cayman Islands

Special thanks to Beverley Speirs for all of her invaluable assistance once again in securing clearance of all of my display material, as well as being a good friend over the years. This trip was to catch up with other friends like James Stenning, who used to work at Campbells when I first went to Cayman years ago but set up on his own two years ago.

Jamaica

I had a busy schedule in Jamaica this time. The Caribbean Association of Law Librarians meeting was a great success. I must say a big thank you to all of the Jamaican division of the CARALL, chaired by Yvonne Lawrence, with the help of Margaret Ferguson – CARALL Secretariat, Norman Manley Law School Library Byron Palmer & Jeanne Slowe, Supreme Court Library – Jamaica Carol E. Ford & Symone Turner, Attorney General's Library Lona Issacs, Myers, Fletcher & Gordon Peta Gaye Levy & Diane Ottey, Livingston Alexander & Levy, Angela Walker, Nunes Scholefield Deleon and Company Michelle Morgan-Hamilton, Dunn Cox

Group picture of CARALL members outside the Norman Manly Law School

Janette Powell & Brenda-Lee Thompson. They are to be commended for all of their hard work organizing the event. Their companies should also be thanked for allowing them to attend this increasingly popular event. Each conference gives invaluable assistance to the librarians with their networking and legal research skills. If you are a law librarian in the Caribbean or outside but wish more information please let me know and I will happy to share one of the best secrets to any good library.

I was also in Jamaica for the 60th Anniversary of the University of the West Indies. Wildys helped to set up all those years ago and we are already looking to the next 60 years and beyond.

While I was in Jamaica there was a meeting of the Advocates Association which was held one weekend in Ocho Rios. Travelling to this allowed me time to see some of the lovely countryside on the way, as all I had seen of Jamaica before was Kingston. I made lots of new friends like Saverna Chambers who had organized the event as well as getting me a special price at the hotel so I could stay overnight and saved me the 4 hour round trip.

It was also nice to escape to the Dunns River Falls with the CARALL delegates. This outing was sponsored by Wildys and Informa.

Shackleton on the Law and Practice of Meetings 11th edition

by Madeleine Cordes, John Pugh-Smith, Alex Ruck Keene, James Burton and Geraldine Caulfield
Sweet & Maxwell, Hardback, ISBN 9781847036377, £150.00, due December 2008

This authoritative work is a practical reference guide on conducting meetings for legal professionals, company secretaries, administrators, directors and local authorities, and covers the rules that must be adhered to when conducting a meeting with reference to relevant case law, legislation and precedents. A wide range of meetings from public assemblies to board meetings are covered, and expert commentary is provided that explains the law surrounding the practice of meetings. Forms and precedents to accompany the commentary are also included. The authors provide comment on all aspects in great detail, from selecting a venue, preparations, press arrangements, the agenda and filing resolutions to closing a meeting, and highlight problems that may potentially arise during meetings and suggest ways of resolving them. The book deals with public processions, marches and assemblies and the protocol to follow for each, and contains discussion on breach of the peace and refers to other aspects of criminal law affecting meetings. The powers and duties of directors, as well as their appointment and departure from office, is discussed as is meetings in a variety of insolvency situations. The authors provide a thorough explanation of minute-taking, including the main points to consider when drafting, the rights of inspection and the safekeeping of the minutes, and also provide an extensive, comprehensive analysis of members' meetings talking you through every step. Written in a clear and comprehensible style, Shackleton has been acknowledged for many years as the leading source of information on the law and practice of meetings.

Company Charges 3rd edition

By W J Gough
LexisNexis Butter-

worths, Hardcover, ISBN 9781405718813, £199.00, due October 2008

This book provides a definitive treatment of the nature and effect of corporate fixed and floating charge security, company charge registration and charge priorities in relation to secured, unsecured and purchase interests. It deals with new legislation, including the Enterprise Act 2002, plus major House of Lords decisions such as Spectrum. Frequently referred to with approval by the superior courts in England, Scotland, Australia, New Zealand and Singapore, it covers legislation from the UK, New Zealand and Australia, with case law from all relevant jurisdictions.

Accidents Abroad: International Personal Injury Claims

General Editor: Bernard Doherty
Sweet & Maxwell, Hardcover, ISBN 9781847035592, £125.00, due December 2008

Accidents Abroad: International Personal Injury Claims applies conflict of laws principles specifically to personal injury claims with an international element, so that practitioners are provided with all the information needed when approaching cases about accidents overseas. The book presents concise, accurate analysis on this emerging and complex area of law that no practitioner should be without. It comes at a time when new legislation is radically altering the conflict of laws landscape. Rome II will create an entirely new set of rules for choice of law in tort claims from January 2009, and it seems increasingly certain that the United Kingdom will opt in to Rome I which will likewise provide a new set of rules for choice of law in contract. In addition to detailed coverage of the general principles applicable to personal injury litigation, the book will provide chapter-by-chapter coverage on the special legal regimes governing air, sea, and rail travel, each with its own liability rules and limitation period. Also included are further chapters on cases arising from foreign road traffic accidents and holidays abroad, the most common source of injuries abroad. This essential book highlights the respective conflict rules relating to jurisdiction (whether governed by Brussels I or common law rules) and the law applicable to any given case. It contains specific chapters on limitation, contribution claims, claims arising from death, and the problematic substance/procedure distinction.

Cross-Border Consumer Contracts

by Jonathan Hill
Oxford University Press, Hardcover, ISBN 9780199276547, £95.00, due September 2008

Until relatively recently, almost all contracts were domestic: both the consumer and the supplier were from the same country and the situation involved no substantial foreign elements. Technological changes (in terms of international travel, means of communication and information technology) have meant that it is a more frequent occurrence for consumer contracts to involve a cross-border dimension. This book explores the legal regimes which seek to deal with disputes which arise out of such cross-border consumer contracts. In terms of private international law, English law traditionally treated consumer contracts no differently from commercial contracts. However, at European level, jurisdictional and choice of law issues arising out of certain consumer contracts are subject to specific rules. The first part of the book focuses on these European developments and seeks to explain why the private litigation model for the resolution of disputes arising out of cross-border consumer contracts has failed to deal adequately with the problems generated by such contracts. Subsequent to these failures, alternative mechanisms for resolving contractual disputes have a particular significance in the consumer context. The second part of the book focuses on an evaluation of these alternative dispute resolution mechanisms, including online dispute resolution.

Gas Sales and Transportation Agreements 2nd edition

by Peter Roberts
Sweet & Maxwell, Hardback, ISBN 9781847037244, £260.00, due October 2008

This new edition provides a detailed, hands-on guide to the drafting, negotiating and interpretation of natural gas trading and transportation contracts, and offers clause-by-clause analysis from a practical perspective to ensure a comprehensive knowledge of the legal and commercial issues involved. The new edition includes coverage on the nature of gas and the gas contracting process, and identifies the legal and commercial issues involved at each stage and advises on how they should be handled in the contract. The author provides clear definitions of common gas sales agreement phrases, such as “shortfall”, “take or pay”, “make up” and “carry forward”, and also looks at “boilerplate” provisions common to both gas sales and transportation agreements. Written from the perspective of English law but in the light of international experience and practice, the new edition takes into account the legislative and regulatory changes since the previous edition and provides increased focus on the commercialisation of natural gas, as a result of greater concerns about climate change, cleaner energy sources and the security of energy supplies. The author examines the standardised contractual terms for the sale and purchase of gas agreed by the international energy industry, and covers the increased interest in contracting for the sale, purchase and trade of liquefied natural gas (LNG). Standard forms for memorandums of understanding and agreements for both gas sales and transportation are also included, as is a CD-ROM containing the sample precedents and agreements within the text.

Tolley's Taxation of Collective Investment 2nd edition

Consultant editor: Stephen Newcombe

LexisNexis Butterworths, Softcover, ISBN 9781405734172, £125.00, due September 2008

The second edition of Tolley's Taxation of Collective Investment has been fully updated to provide useful advice and wide-ranging coverage on the taxation of collective investment vehicles and investors in those vehicles. The user-friendly, practical two-part format explains in clear detail the taxation of the different collective investment vehicles available and, in the second part, examines the taxation issues affecting investors in the schemes as well as considering the taxation of holders of life policies, pension fund investors, ISAs and PAIFs. The book also explains the different investment possibilities available from collective investment and the tax implications for the investor, thereby assisting in structuring such investment in the most tax-efficient manner. The contributing authors are drawn from leading accountancy firms, City law firms, investment management industry trade bodies and the financial services industry itself. The editor has wide experience of this area, formerly as an external adviser and currently working in the industry. He has also contributed to the tax work of several industry bodies including chairing the AUTIF and IMA tax committees. This is an invaluable handbook for those who work in the area of investment management, both within the industry and outside of it, including tax accountants and solicitors. Professional advisers who advise clients who may be fund operators, institutional investors or individual investors will find it essential reading in that it provides accessible coverage and indicates potential pitfalls for those who are not experts in this area. The new edition incorporates all changes to collective investments arising out of the 2007 Finance Act affecting all onshore and offshore funds, in particular PAIFs, pension funds and life assurance and ISAs. The new edition also deals with the changes proposed by the European Commission's White Paper on Asset Management on amendments UCITS, as well as those changes anticipated in the 2008 Finance Bill.

Execution of Documents 2nd edition

by Mark Anderson and Victor Warner

Law Society Publishing, Softcover, ISBN 9781853286995, £54.95, due October 2008

Incorrect execution can lead to documents being invalid or unenforceable. Ensure that you are following the correct procedures with this fully updated and revised second edition of Execution of Documents. Practical and user-friendly, this guide covers documents such as deeds, contracts, powers of attorney, and documents used in litigation. This expanded edition now features a chapter dealing with notarisation and also covers new methods of signing documents including the use of electronic signatures. The new edition takes account of changes made by The Regulatory Reform (Execution of Deeds and Documents) Order 2005 – introducing new rules for making deeds for companies and other corporations; Part 4 of the Companies Act 2006 – creating new provisions relating to the execution of deeds and other documents by companies and the use of the company seal; and The 2006 High Court decision in J Pereira Fernandes SA v Mehta – which decided that an email which does not include the name of the sender typed into the body of text does not constitute a signed document.

Charities, Trading and the Law 2nd edition

by Stephen Lloyd and Alice Faure Walker

Jordan Publishing, Softcover, ISBN 9781846611063, £50.00, due October 2008

Written for people working in charities, this practical guide examines and explains the law surrounding the full range of trading activities which charities and their associated trading companies undertake. Topics covered include fund raising, the sale of donated goods, primary purpose trading, trading and tax issues, and establishing a trading company. It also covers broader commercial issues as they apply to charities, including terms of trade, competition rules and insolvency and bankruptcy. A dedicated chapter examines common problem areas such as sponsorship and catalogue sales where the charity should consider establishing a separate trading company. Each section is illustrated with examples and cases showing how the law is interpreted and applied in practice, helping the reader to relate the law to their own charity. This new edition has been fully revised to take account of changes implemented by the Charities Act 2006.

The Brussels I Regulation: Its Application and Scope

Edited by Burkhard Hess, Thomas Pfeiffer and Peter Schlosser

Hart Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 9781841139012, £66.00, due October 2008

On 1st March 2003, the Brussels I- Council Regulation (EC) No 44/2001 of 22nd December 2001 on Jurisdiction and the Recognition and Enforcement of Judgements in Civil and Commercial Matters (Judgment Regulation) became the cornerstone of the European civil procedural law. The Regulation is directly applicable in all Member States and forms the residual instrument in cross-border civil procedures in the European Union. This Report, by well-known German professors of law Hess, Pfeiffer, and Schlosser, provides a comprehensive analysis of the application of the Judgment Regulation in the Member States, based on interviews, statistics and practical research in the files of the national courts. The Report concludes that the Regulation does not require fundamental amendment, but that several improvements should be considered, especially with regard to the general function of the Regulation as the residual instrument of European Procedural Law. The Report will be helpful to both practitioners and scholars seeking to learn about the impact which the Judgment Regulation has had on procedural practice in

Member States of the EU.

Electronic Commerce and International Private Law: A Study of Electronic Consumer Contracts

Lorna E. Gillies

Ashgate Publishing, Hardback, ISBN 9780754648550, £55.00, due October 2008

This new book examines the maximization of consumer protection via the consumer's jurisdiction and law. It discusses the proposition that a new connecting factor be used to improve the efficiency of juridical protection for consumers who contract with foreign sellers by electronic means and offers recommendations as to how to amend existing jurisdiction and choice of law rules to provide a basis for the consumer to sue in his own jurisdiction and for the law of the consumer's domicile to apply. The book will be a valuable resource for academics, students and practitioners working in the areas of international private law, electronic commerce law and consumer law. Lorna E. Gillies is a Lecturer in law at the University of Leicester.

BRITISH RULE IN CHINA
LAW AND JUSTICE IN WEIHAIWEI 1898-1930

By
Carol G. S. Tan

ISBN: 9780854900268
Hardback 348pp
£45

Written using official records and other sources, British Rule in China is the first systematic account of the legal history of Weihaiwei, a small territory leased by China to Britain in 1898. It is a fascinating and accessible account of the territory's constitution, laws, courts, judges and magistrates, penal policy, and police force. The book explores the various problems and controversies faced by the local authorities in administering justice as well as their attempts to resolve them. The author argues that, as originally conceived, Weihaiwei's legal system made few concessions to the fact that the territory remained a part of China yet, in practice and for reasons which are explored in the book, it integrated some aspects of Chinese institutions, law and custom. Given the centrality of the law, its institutions and its officials to the exercise of British jurisdiction, this work is a contribution not merely to colonial legal history but also to the history of this part of China under foreign rule.

AND OTHER LAWYERS

By
Eric Stockdale

ISBN: 9780854900299

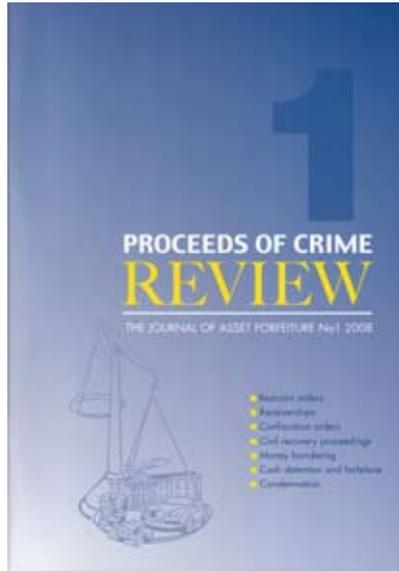

Hardback 118pp

£14.95

In From Wig and Pen to Computer the author made brief references to his practice and wrote about his experience as a writer of articles and books on legal and allied topics. In the present book he gives an amusing account of some of his more entertaining and interesting cases while at the Bar and on the Bench, coupled with revealing stories about some of his contemporaries in the law. It is likely to prove an acceptable gift for law students, lawyers and laymen alike.

Sir Mark Potter, in his Foreword, comments: 'This book is a treasure house of anecdote and reminiscence.' He goes on to describe it as 'a fascinating patchwork assembled from the varied fabric of a career at the Bar of a kind which has all but disappeared in the age of increased specialisation, followed by 22 years as a humane and humorous Circuit Judge before whom advocates and litigants alike were treated with fairness, courtesy and consideration.'

FROM WIG AND PEN TO COMPUTER
REFLECTIONS OF A LEGAL AUTHOR

By
Eric Stockdale

ISBN: 9780854900220

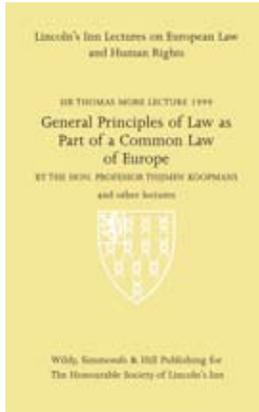

Hardback 152pp

£14.95

Eric Stockdale left school at 14 and went to work in wartime London. After two years in the post-war Army he was called to the Bar at the age of 21 and appointed a Circuit judge shortly after his 43rd. birthday. He took early retirement at 65 and then heard Criminal Injuries Compensation appeals for ten years.

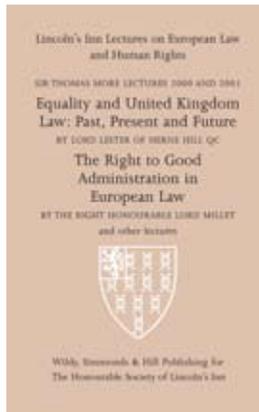

When he became a barrister in 1950 he was a young man with an unusual background, which included 'a pathetic attempt' (his words) to follow several relatives into journalism. After his failure to break into Fleet Street, Eric Stockdale decided to earn his living from chambers in the adjoining Temple. His ability to write led to the publication of many articles, followed by books on criminal justice and historical topics, culminating with two works inspired by the links of many leaders of the American Revolution with his own Inn of Court, the Middle Temple. As this book is about his experiences as a legal author, it also deals briefly with his life in the law and describes how he became interested in the different subjects about which he wrote.

Sir Igor Judge, in his Foreword, comments: 'This is a remarkable story by any standards,' and adds, 'much is written humorously.' The reader, whether lawyer or layman, is likely to concur with that judgment.
